RAVENNA, O., May 10.—

The bullet-pierced bodies of Charles Sleming, 34, and his wife, Bessie, 36, were discovered lying dead in the bedroom of their home near here today by one of their three small children.

A pistol was found gripped in the hand of Sleming. The man had apparently murdered his wife and then turned the gun on himself, police said.

Mrs. Sleming was shot through the heart. Her husband was fatally wounded in the temple.

Sleming was believed to have committed the double tragedy in a frenzy of drunkenness, police said.

The frightened and tearful children of the slain couple told police, authorities said, that their father "had been drinking" when he came home last night. They declared, however, that they did not hear the bullet shots that proved fatal to their parents.

PA NEW OBSERVES

There seems to be plenty a night-life activity of the right sort around New Castle, what with the high school football team playing night games and Troop P drilling under lights at night. That kind of activity will not hurt anyone much.

Pa New observes that a new sidewalk is being erected along side the Sears and Roebuck store building. We sincerely hope that motorists will permit pedestrians to walk on it, and not try and park all over it as machines do in Sycamore alley alongside the Greer building.

Pa New observes that a great number of homes throughout the city are being painted at the present time, which will do much to remedy the unemployment situation, especially among members of the painting trade, much of whose work is seasonal.

Lilacs and snowballs are in bloom. Still some appleblossoms around.

It's going to take a long time to train motorists what the new fangled traffic light means, at the corner of Croton avenue and Washington street. It is rather amusing to see the blank look on the faces of some drivers when they see the green arrow?

All that East Side residents in the vicinity of Franklin Field got out of last night's game was plenty of dust. The dirt streets surrounding the field were very dry and when machines going to and from the game passed, they kicked up plenty of it.

There were plenty of spectators from a distance in attendance at the football game last evening. Erie had a big delegation there, who were present to see what conditions were like, one of the Erie schools having the proposition of night football up at the present time. They were much impressed with the game and the ease with which the game is played under the powerful flood lights.

Meeting of the chairman of the various committees of the coming state encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic and its affiliated organizations, to be held here the week of June 8, held last night at the office of The News with Fred L. Rentz, general chairman, presiding, was an enthusiastic affair.

First matter of business was the selection of Robert L. Meermans, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A., as chairman of the finance committee. He will organize his committee at once and funds for the entertainment of the big encampment will be sought at once.

Five thousand dollars will be required to entertain this convention, which will bring ten thousand people from all parts of the state of Pennsylvania.

It will be the last encampment of the Pennsylvania department of the Grand Army of the Republic. It is desired that this encampment be a most fitting affair to mark the close of the activities of the remnant of (Continued On Page Two)

NAMED TO SUPREME COURT

Owen D. Roberts, of Philadelphia, has been named to the U. S. Supreme Court by President Hoover. He was one of the government's special counsel in the oil scandal cases.

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 10.—

No serious difficulty is anticipated in confirming Owen J. Roberts as an associate justice of the United States Supreme Court, despite the growling of the radical prohibitionists in the Senate.

While there probably will be some votes cast against his confirmation, his nomination has not stirred up anything like the opposition that greeted the names of Charles Evans Hughes and John J. Parker. There was plenty of leadership in the Hughes and Parker fights, but a survey today failed to develop anyone anxious to assume direction of a fight against the Philadelphian.

Roberts' eminence as a lawyer and his successful conduct of the litigation arising out of the oil scandals, in which the government recovered all the oil reserves which Albert E. Fall loaned away to his friends, has impressed even those in the senate who might logically be counted upon to oppose his elevation to the bench.

Not Much Opposition

The opposition, such as it has been revealed in the short time his name has been before the senate, is confined almost entirely to the more radical dregs, and the more extreme advocates of government regulation of all kinds of business. These elements fall far short of enough strength to prevent confirmation.

It takes a coalition of virtually all the Democrats and all the Republican Insurgents to control the senate on a given issue and in the case of Roberts nothing like such solidarity can be counted upon. The regular Republicans appear for him to a man, and he has a very considerable following among the Insurgents and the Democrats.

The growling of the radical prohibitionists is due to a speech which Roberts delivered before a bankers' convention some time ago in which he was quoted in newspaper accounts as deploring the putting into the constitution such "police regulations" as the 18th Amendment.

In that same speech, he was quoted as also deploring the tendency of the government to intervene, either through legislative investigations or otherwise, in every kind of business, this latter phrase of his speech did not endear him to the Progressive-Insurgents in congress, but his subsequent vigorous prosecution of the oil scandals cases over a period of six years did much to remove the sting of it.

Remarks Dug Up

It was left for Senator Morris Sheppard (D) of Texas, co-author of the 18th Amendment, to dig up the newspaper accounts of Roberts' remarks on the 18th Amendment. At first he announced he would oppose Roberts' confirmation because of it, but later stated that he would "reserve judgment." The later announcement (Continued On Page Two)

Bus Runs Wild At Greensburg, Woman Injured

Greyhound Bus Slides Down Big
Hill In Greensburg And Woman Is Injured

(International News Service)
GREENSBURG, Pa., May 10.—One woman was slightly injured and a score of passengers on a westbound bus of the Greyhound Lines were severely shaken up but otherwise uninjured today when the heavy vehicle careened down a busy, traffic-filled street here.

Mrs. Julia Ferenz, 56, of Greensburg, a pedestrian was knocked down and suffered minor injuries when the bus struck her. The woman was hurled to the roadside.

The accident occurred when the brakes were accidentally released on the bus which was parked at the top of the West Pittsburgh street hill. Without warning, the machine suddenly started backward down the hill, gathering momentum despite the efforts of Jack Solomon of Pittsburgh, the driver, to bring the bus to a halt.

Unable to apply the brakes, Solomon grabbed the steering wheel and pilot of the careening machine through the vehicular traffic which swerved and scrambled out of the way. As it neared the bottom of the hill the bus smashed into and broke off a telephone pole and a water plug.

Will Observe Mother's Day Practically All Churches Of City To Pay Tribute To Mother

Spring in all her glory brings with her many pleasant and enjoyable thoughts and events, strange to other seasons, but peculiarly spring's own. The advent of Mother's Day, which is observed the second Sunday in May, incites our hearts to turn toward the person we usually hold most dear, "Our Mother." The day has been fittingly heralded by banquets and programs during the past week, extolling the endearing relations between mother and daughter.

Sunday the various churches of the city will take up the strain and "Mother" will ring from pulpit and choir, as every church in the city will observe the day at their Sunday services. There will be special sermons, special music, recitations and parents depicting the love of a mother toward her children.

Especially fitting to the day will be the service to be held in the Almira Home at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

Of Case

(International News Service)
SAPULPA, Okla., May 10.—

Docketed here as "Fred Finch," a prisoner in the Creek County jail today vigorously denied that he is Thomas Crawford, brother of Irene Schroeder, condemned Pennsylvania gunwoman who is awaiting execution in the Keystone State for the murder of Corporal Brady Paul of the State Highway Patrol.

Despite the prisoner's denials, however, Creek county authorities today sent fingerprints of the man to the national bureau of identification at Washington for comparison with the prints of Crawford which were taken when the blonde gunwoman's brother was an enlisted man in the United States army.

The man held here was taken into custody yesterday when suspicious police officers checked up on the stranger and declared his physical characteristics bore close resemblance to the descriptions of Crawford which were flashed throughout the nation following the shooting escapade in which Paul met death back in Pennsylvania in December of last year.

"We've been looking for somebody of that description since last year when the Pennsylvania party was reported traveling through this section," Deputy Sheriff W. H. Williams said today. "This fellow we have fits the description given of Crawford in the police bulletins."

"He has dark brown hair, dark brown eyes—very large, broad face, short and thickset. He weighs about 135 pounds and while he says he is only 22 years old, we think he's considerably older than that."

With the exception of the age given by the prisoner, Sheriff Williams said the description of his prisoner and that of Tom Crawford agree in almost every detail. The officer declared he was particularly struck by the significant resemblance of scars on the body of his prisoner which correspond with scars mentioned in the police bulletins.

Williams listed these scars as a long cut on the left hand just above the middle finger, another on the small finger of the right hand and a scar on his right shin.

In addition to sending the fingerprints to Washington, local authorities today were drawing up detailed

Two Thousand Persons In Mob That Battled Civil Authorities

(International News Service)

SHERMAN, Tex., May 10.—

Fifteen persons were arrested today as official investigation was opened to fix responsibility for the mob violence here which resulted in the burning to death of a Negro and the destruction by fire of the Grayson county Courthouse.

Practically all of those arrested were young men, alleged leaders of a crowd of 2,000 persons who battled civil and military authorities for twelve hours until they gained possession of the body of George Hughes, 41 year old Negro charged with criminal assault, and burned it at the stake.

The jailed men were charged with incendiarism and instigating mob violence.

Seek Women Members
Meanwhile authorities sought the identification of several women members of the mob, who not only cheered the efforts of the men but were seen to help pile kindling wood and boxes upon the funeral pyre of the Negro when his body was carried into the Negro quarters and burned on a street corner.

Additional state troopers arrived here this morning and were immediately stationed over wide sections of the city. The Negro quarters were under heavy guard.

Although the National guardsmen were largely in charge of the situation, martial law has not been declared. The tension diminished rapidly with the burning of Hughes' body shortly after midnight and no further disorders were expected.

(International News Service)
JOHNSTOWN, Pa., May 10.—Cambria county bootleg war was blamed today for the killing of one man and the wounding of another by Passaqua Martona, McKeesport, Pa., who was killed in an automobile crash shortly after the shooting yesterday.

Police said Martona shot and killed Joseph Sansone and then probably fatally wounded Arthur Patton.

An hour after he escaped in the automobile of his victims, Martona was killed when the car was wrecked near Munday's Corners.

On those white pants with their pristine glow, their summer breathing air, to wear them to a park and then to dance is the berries you'll admit if you have a pair at home, those fancy braided, razor edged white pants.

Ensemble Players Win Second Place At Philadelphia

JOHNSTOWN IS BAND WINNER

New Castle Senior High School musicians were apparently outclassed in the Philadelphia finals on Friday. In none of the contests did a New Castle entry finish first and while the New Castle boys tried hard, they were against competition that was too keen.

In the band contest, Johnstown, picked as a favorite, came through in expected style and won the state championship again. Charleroi finished second. New Castle's placing was not given in the wire dispatches received here, only the two prizes being awarded.

Second In Ensembles

In the ensemble contests New Castle and Schenley were the only contestants. Schenley of Pittsburgh won both the string and wood wind ensemble, with New Castle taking second place.

In the individual contests New Castle was also outclassed apparently. Charleroi won first place in violin, Sunbury second and Indiana third. Pottsville's entry won the oration, Clearfield second and McKees Rocks third.

All the high school musicians stayed in Philadelphia over night and left there this morning at 10:35. They will arrive in New Castle tonight at 9:11 p. m.

City Employees Scrape Streets

Employees of the municipal department of streets are scraping and ashing streets throughout the city.

Councilman Treser in referring to the culling of the streets said the city does not do the work.

He pointed out, however, that there is a force of men who quit work at 4:30 p. m. each day who do the work.

The residents of the streets buy the oil and the men charge 50 cents a barrel for distributing it.

U. S. Weather Observing station, the mercury hitting 90 in the shade.

Pa. News here that most of the city police officers are about ready to make a change for their winter to light-weight summer uniforms. Don't blame them!

Public drinking fountains on East Washington street no doubt will be operating soon. Most of them have been given fresh coats of paint for the summer, but as yet no water has been turned on.

Automobile traffic in the downtown district seemed heavier this morning than for some time. Countless sales now in progress no doubt are proving real attractions to those in the outside districts.

Congratulatory letters have started to flow in to New Castle Lions, voting state-wide satisfaction with the excellent manner in which this year's convention was handled. The club did do a good job of it.

A sign has been hung from the traffic light at the corner of Croton avenue and East Washington street, stating to turn left on green arrow. It was a good idea to put up the sign because the unusual traffic signal would be rather puzzling to many drivers.

Saw three barefoot boys, fishing beneath the East Washington street bridge. All three were overalls, rolled up to the knee. One of the boys had two fish on a string. Each fish was about 6 inches long and you can imagine how proud the youngster was.

Henceforth, the sycamore tree on the Diamond, should be referred to as "Black-an-ka." The tree acquired that name through the recent naming contest sponsored by the Lawrence County Garden Club.

This year's New Castle Fair will be held August 5, 6 and 7, and it promises to be an outstanding event.

Senator Reed (R) of Pennsylvania, when he heard of the situation, telephoned to Roberts at his home in Philadelphia. The oil prosecutor said he wasn't speaking about prohibition, but about the woman of incorporating such an amendment as the 18th in the Constitution from a purely legalistic standpoint.

Senator Simmons (D) of North Carolina, who is bitter over the Parker defeat, and who is facing a hard fight for reelection this year, said about the woman of incorporating such an amendment as the 18th in the Constitution from a purely legalistic standpoint.

"Wets" Accused

On and off the floor, Simmons has blamed "the wets" for inciting the opposition to Parker. He accused the wets of "striking the Negroes" in the Parker fight. It was this Negro opposition to Parker that ultimately turned the scales against him.

However, the prospects of starting a successful fight against Roberts on the prohibition issue appeared hopeless today even to the most radical of the prohibitionists. Such outstanding drys as (R) of Ohio, Allen (R) of Kansas, and their colleagues will have none of it. The senate is overwhelmingly dry, but it has not yet reached the point where it is willing to apply the dry yardstick to every question.

The actual extent of the opposition to Roberts, however, cannot be gauged until next week when the senate judiciary committee meets to consider it. This meeting will be on Monday, and unless something unforeseen develops over the week-end a quick and favorable report is in prospect.

"Any lawyer who loves his profession as I do considers it the highest honor that could be offered him. Roberts said, "I consider it duty and pleasure to accept."

"I am simply overcome by the honor of this nomination," he continued after a pause. "It came very suddenly."

"If my appointment is confirmed by the senate I will administer the law and defend the Constitution with the best fidelity and all the strength I can command. And that goes 1000 per cent," he added smilingly as he dismissed his interviewers.

PRESIDENT HOOVER'S Fishing Camp, Rapidan River, Va., May 10.—President Hoover and his party arrived in camp at 10:30 o'clock this morning in ample time to don their fishing togs and get in an hour or so of fishing in the well-stocked Rapidan Mountain stream before lunch.

Leaving the White House before 7 a. m. the party took advantage of the clear roads and travelled at a fairly fast clip.

At one point the President's limousine halted for several minutes for a group of convicts repairing the road. Trucks dumping gravel blocked the road and the presidential party waited until they were pulled aside. Few of the prisoners recognized Mr. Hoover.

Milton Moffatt, who resides at the home of Patrick Kennedy of 1403 East Brook street, was overcome by smoke, and fireman Clyde Rohrer of Central station sustained a bad cut on his foot in a blaze which damaged the Kennedy home to the extent of $450 Friday afternoon.

The blaze is believed to have been started by children playing with matches on the second floor. Mrs. Moffatt discovered the blaze and called to her husband who was working in the garden. He was slightly overcome by smoke in attempting to extinguish the blaze. Firemen Rohrer was cut about the foot when he broke the glass in a second story window. He was given first aid treatment at the scene of the fire and continued on duty, his injury being dressed on return to the fire station.

The fire was burning briskly when firemen arrived on the scene, and fortunately enough hose was laid to reach the blaze by hooking the hose of No. 3 department and the Pirsch truck from Central station together, 1,600 feet being laid to reach the scene of the fire from the nearest fire plug. Had the house been several hundred feet farther away, it would probably have been totally destroyed.

FATHER DELANEY TO MAKE ADDRESS

gram will be brief, but very interesting to members and their friends.

Three speakers of repute in Holy Name will address the assembled men after the opening prayer is given by Rev. Father P. J. McKenna, pastor of St. Mary's church. J. B. Collins, President of the Diocese Union of the Holy Name Society, will talk on Holy Name work from the layman's viewpoint. William A. Ryan, vice president of the National Laymen's Retreat Association, will speak on the annual retreats, held each summer and which a number of New Castle men have attended.

Rev. Father James M. Delaney, Spiritual Director of the Diocesan Union of the Holy Name Society will follow Mr. Ryan. Those men who heard the inspiring address of Father Delaney here in the city two years ago, will most certainly want to hear him again and have their friends hear him.

Several musical numbers will be rendered with Rev. Father F. S. Clifford, Assistant Pastor of St. Mary's at the organ. Singing of the National Anthem and hymns by the audience, augmented by the senior choir of St. Mary's. The meeting is scheduled to begin promptly at 8 o'clock, eastern standard time.

descriptions of their prisoner for forwarding to officials of Lawrence county, Pennsylvania, and police of West Virginia. Crawford's native state.

County Detective Peck Lee had received no word concerning the arrest of the man suspected to be Tom Crawford and until such time as he gets definite information, will take no steps.

The authorities here doubt that the man wanted is Tom Crawford as they seem to think that he is in the eastern part of the country. His identification records are all in the state police barracks at Butler, Pa., in charge of Captain Jacob A. Mauk and it is understood that Captain Mauk will forward all the details he has on Crawford's description.

When she was told that it was thought Tom Crawford had been captured in the west, Liene Schroeder, his sister, who is under a first degree conviction for the murder of Corporal Brady Paul, said with a sigh, "Now isn't that nice, when are you going out to get him?"

Labor's Indorsement

Nothing that a representative in the General Assembly does in an official way escapes the record. His vote, his remarks, all are on the record and his every action is scrutinized by organizations whose interests are at stake.

There is nothing improper in this. A public official is a public servant and what he does as a public servant must be answered for to the people.

Labor has always been interested in the attitude of the members of the General Assembly, and among labor organizations none has been more upon the alert than the Co-operative Legislative Board of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen.

This board, composed of representatives of each branch mentioned takes the record of each member, assays it carefully and then reports to the members over the state on the qualifications of the representative if he be a candidate for re-election.

Following its usual custom the Co-operative Legislative Board has reported on various candidates who are up for election this year. My own record in the General Assembly is set down in detail and in summing up its findings the board through its officers, G. B. Rowand, chairman and M. W. McCarty, secretary, says:

"Mr. Richards' record in the 1929 sessions was very good and we recommend his re-election."

MOTHERS' ASSISTANCE

Why does my opponent wait until Mother's Day to begin to think of the Mothers' Assistance Fund, in his vote getting appeal for a third term?

My interest in this matter began back in 1918-1919 when I personally worked for the passage of this bill. To the women of the state belongs the credit for placing this act on the statute books. The fund is administered under the Act of July 10, 1919. It must be puzzling to the citizens of New Castle to know that my opponent has served in the General Assembly two sessions without any personal interest in this matter.

Down with such an appeal for a third term.

Through various women's organizations of the state, and increase in appropriation for the Mothers' Assistance Fund has been secured from time to time. No citizen in New Castle regrets more than I do that this fund is not yet sufficient to care adequately for the needs of all widows and orphans.

As a mother, this measure has a special appeal to me, not only at Mother's Day, but every day of the year. I believe the 1931 session of the legislature should set aside more money for this worthy work. If you favor an increase in the Mothers' Assistance Fund, I will appreciate your support on May 20th.

My name is Number 2 on the ballot.

THORSON-CAMPBELL WEDDING NEWS

A quiet wedding was solemnized Saturday, May 9, at the parsonage of St. John's Lutheran church when Virginia Thorson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Thorson of Fairmont avenue, became the bride of Edward R. Campbell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Campbell, of Young street, with the Rev. Fr. F. E. Stough officiating.

The bride was attractive in a gown of shell chiffon with accessories to match and wore a shoulder corsage of roses and sweet peas. They were unattended.

A wedding dinner supplemented the ceremony, covers being laid for members of the immediate families at a beautifully appointed table in tones of pink and white, with a large bouquet of tea roses forming the centerpiece. Among those present were three grandfathers of the bride and groom.

Mrs. Campbell is a graduate of the local Senior High School class of '26 and also attended Slippery Rock State Teachers College. For the past two years she has held a clerical position with Fisher Brothers. Mr. Campbell is employed as a machinist at the Pennsylvania Engineering Works.

The young couple left later in the day for a motor trip to points of interest along the Hudson River and New York state. Upon their return they will reside with the bride's parents for the present.

ROBERTS AND THE SENATE

IT WILL be interesting to see the reaction of the United States Senate to the nomination of Owen J. Roberts, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Justice Sanford of the United States Supreme Court.

To the reasoning mind there seems to be no valid reason why Mr. Roberts should not be confirmed immediately and unananimously. A man of scholarly attainments, a lawyer whose entire career stands out in bold relief, a prosecutor for the government whose work gained for him unstinted praise in the oil scandal cases.

There is one flaw in his record however that may act as a bar to his confirmation, and that is the fact that he is a Pennsylvanian. In the past six years it has almost seemed as though a Pennsylvanian was barred from recognition in Washington, as for example the refusal to confirm the appointment of Cyrus E. Woods to the Inter-State Commerce Commission.

If the senate would have ability, integrity and sincerity upon the Supreme bench, it will confirm Roberts. If however we are to see a continuance of the petty wrangling, acrimonious debate, and nonsensical investigations which have marked this body in the past, then it is just possible that Owen J. Roberts may meet the same fate as some of his brother Pennsylvanians.

President Hoover is to be congratulated upon the selection of Owen J. Roberts. Among the galaxy of distinguished sons in this great commonwealth, none stand higher, none can point to more brilliant records, none can show an escutcheon more stainless than his.

It is to be hoped that before another week has passed, that Pennsylvania can proudly point to Justice Owen J. Roberts of the United States Supreme Court.

MOTHER'S DAY

It is written Mother's Day, in the singular, you will observe. Not Mothers' Day. This puts it right up to you, as an individual. For each of us Sunday will be Mother's Day, whether our mothers be near or far, whether gone before or still with us in the land of the living.

A loving letter, a substantial gift, a personal visit—these are the means by which those of us still fortunate enough to have our mothers may demonstrate our affections. For those who have looked for the last time on the dear face of her who was their "ever present help in time of trouble" in the turbulent days of childhood, there is the opportunity for retrospection, for redemption of self to those principles for which motherhood in its spirit of exalted love, devotion and self sacrifice so pre-eminently stands.

Abraham Lincoln, at the pinnacle of his career, said: "All that I am I owe to my angel mother."

Too often we think of ourselves as self-made. Our little triumphs, or personal successes we attribute to our own worth and ability. But if we have won to any place of prominence, if we have achieved anything worth while, if we have put selfishness behind us and sacrificed for an ideal, if we have waged a good fight against grasping greed or have rendered a service to some wronged or injured fellow, be sure the inspiration is one that may be traced back to our mothers.

Man is never so noble as when bowing in humble acknowledgement of the debt he owes to mother love. Women are never so lovely as when doing a mother's work, whether for children of their own flesh and blood or for those of others.

It is eminently fitting that there should be Mother's Day services in the churches Sunday, for mother's love is the nearest akin to divine love that we on the earth can know. Lincoln, paying highest tribute to his mother but voiced the sentiments of the Master himself during his earthly sojourn.

But presence at such a service is not enough. Something more personal is required. Mother love is your most precious heritage. Do not neglect it.

MONEY IN THE PRIMARIES

Work for the rest of the year is already cut out for the Nye committee on election expenses. Ruth Hanna McCormick's admission that she spent $250,000 of her own money for her nomination for United States Senator from Illinois provided a scent strong enough to start the investigators in pursuit at full cry, and a bitter three-cornered fight in Pennsylvania promises election expense accounts of sufficient size to make the whole political world seem crooked to Senator Nye and his colleagues.

Senator Newberry in 1918 spent only $198,000 and the senate held his expenditure as "contrary to sound public policy, harmful to the honor and dignity of the senate and dangerous to the perpetuity of free government." But, while the supreme court ruled that the senate has no control over state primaries, Mr. Newberry resigned.

In the 1926 Illinois primaries Frank L. Smith spent $458,000 in his campaign for senator and was excluded from the senate. In the Pennsylvania primaries of that year the Pepper-Fisher ticket spent $1,804,000; the Vare-Beideman ticket $785,000, and Mr. Pinchot $187,000. Vare got the nomination and the office, only to be barred from his seat by the senate.

Compared with the expenditures of her opponent, which were $24,000 Mrs. McCormick spent too much for her nomination, but since there has been no hint of fraud or corruption either in the sources of uses of her "slush fund" she may not be denied her seat in the senate if she is again victorious in the fall. What will happen in Pennsylvania also remains to be seen, or to be maneuvered by the politicians there and in congress.

THE WHITE COLLAR MAN

While the wage-earner and farmer are the traditional "victims" of our economic system, the white collar man has his troubles, always has had them and is now seeing them pyramided.

It will be remembered that during the war, while the laborer was drawing high wages and the farmer was getting peak prices, the white collar man, on the same old meager salary, was trying to make both ends meet in a world where the "high cost of living" was more than expression.

Much sympathy has been poured forth for the wage-earner whose place in the factory has been taken by a machine, for the farmer who has learned how to produce more but not how to sell more, for the musician who has been crowded out of the theater pit by "synthetic music," but until Julius Klein, assistant secretary of commerce, described the situation none shed a tear or worked up a worry for the white collar men, the executives, who have lost their desks and salaries through consolidation of factory management, bank mergers and super-power development.

An engineering staff competent to function for one efficient utility corporation may function for a number of other companies consolidating with it. So it goes through all the fields of business management.

These mounting troubles of the white collar man imply a challenge to the whole system of practical education which has been a national demand for a generation.

Any man who makes the best of things gets them.

Mrs. Grace H. Logar of Phoenix, says Arizona women earnestly favor abolishing capital punishment.

A woman, Eva Doughan, was hanged there recently, says Mrs. Logar, and:

"We now have two young boys facing the gallows. When our committee was in session today all agreed to see if you would not touch upon this subject in your writing for our Arizona papers."

Punishment inflicted by government on criminals reflects the civilization of the period.

After the French Revolution, when torture of witnesses was forbidden, judges were agast, and said:

"We can't get the facts if we are not allowed to torture witnesses."

That applied to witnesses not accused of any crime.

Arizona decides to stop punishing one killing with another killing that will be due to the influence of women.

A million women, burning with the desire to be "independent," although nobody is independent, will be interested in Miss Marion Hollins. Years ago she was champion female golfer. Now she takes her place in big business, as an able "oil woman." She made up her mind that if men could do it, she could, went into oil financing, and a recent sale netted her $2,500,000.

Did you read H. G. Wells' interesting statement about the higher apes? They can "think ahead" a little. No other animal except man, not even monkeys with tails, can do it.

Without being taught, a chimpanzee will take one stick, insert it in the hollow of another stick, and, with the added length, draw a banana into his cage.

Since the beginning of time, no other animal but man could think as much as that.

Consider what man does now, weighing the stars, measuring the electrons inside of an atom. And only twelve thousand years ago he was using sharp flints as weapons. But far ahead, mentally, of the chimpanzee. What will he do 10,000,000 years hence?

In the Ohio penitentiary, where nearly four hundred convicts were recently burned alive, two long term prisoners ended their imprisonment suddenly Thursday morning. They were asleep with other convicts in the stockade, when a machine gunner on the roof discharged his machine gun accidentally, and killed them. Albert Freeman and Frank Ross are their names.

Accidents are bad for prison discipline.

The prosecutor who sent to the electric chair Ruth Snyder and Gray, who helped murder her husband, has died. What report would he send from his present abode concerning the couple executed by his order?

Would he report that they had been forgiven up there, or would be allowed to live, and see them, writhing in torment, where "the worm dieth not," condemned to horrible agony, through infinite millions and billions of years?

Display of naval power on water, and in air continues it, New York.

The most interesting display came when some seafarers saw 132 planes rise from the decks of three ships 15 seconds apart and when they saw the same planes, after flying out to make theoretical attacks, return to land safely on the ships, 30 seconds apart, without a mishap.

What would such a carrier ship with its cargo of bomb-poison gas and machine guns carrying planes do to a fleet of surface ships?

It would do to it exactly what one hundred thirty-two hawks would do to a group of field mice.

She lives apart and few will know when her cow ends.

But Canalsia, Jersey cow, of Mr. Kisco, N. Y., is a champion female worthy of honor.

Last year she produced 19,722 pounds of butter fat, and 18,822 pounds of milk.

Such a cow could help to solve the farm problem. They are in their way as remarkable as machinery in mass production factories.

Unemployment Legislation Believed Practical Effort

Passage Of Two Measures By Senate Welcomed As Attempt To Solve Problem Of Varying National Demands For Labor

Possible benefits are seen by many in the passage by the Senate of two out of three measures for the relief of unemployment, introduced by Senator Wagner of New York. One of these provides for a revolving fund of $150,000,000 to be used by a planning board for public works where needed.

The second bill would establish a system of statistics on jobs and job hunters. The third bill, pending, is intended to deal with employment activities.

The Wagner bills are described by the ROCHESTER TIMES-UNION as "the first combination of the kind ever to come before Congress," and that paper believes that "their worth will endure for years."

The LOVELL EVENING LEADER records that the principles involved in the two bills approved in the Senate "are precisely the same as those on which President Hoover based his program for relief," and suggests that the Senator's mind and that of the President have evidently been moving in the same channels.

"Essentially sound" is the verdict of the HOUSTON CHRONICLE on "the plan to encourage the construction of public works in times of economic depression," and that paper concludes: "Stabilization of the worker's income must be accomplished, else we will have state social insurance on a scale hitherto undreamed of. This nation will be burdened with unemployment insurance, old age insurance, burdens which will place us in the same class with England, whose people are now being asked to contribute to unemployment insurance."

Many great manufacturing concerns in America have stabilized their dividends. In lean years or good, the man who owns shares in the company, gets his return on his investment. American industry will have to take from its surplus funds in the good times so that the workers can be aided in times that are bad. Unless some such system is put into effect, this preliminary $150,000,000 voted by the United States Senate will be but the beginning of a succession of government "doles" which must be paid ultimately by all in the shape of higher taxes.

Expressing the hope that the House also will give approval, the CLEVELAND PLAIN DEALER comments: "The unemployment situation is serious; it involves millions of persons and hundreds of thousands of families. The Federal government of it any larger."

Calling the proposal "a weak scheme," the MILWAUKEE JOURNAL explains that "big out though the $150,000,000 is into Federal revenue, it is a trifling sum when unemployment numbers." The Journal contends that "better plans have been put in practice in many private enterprises," and advises: "It is possible to study the consumption habits of the public—in some cases even to change the consumption habits; in others to use cold storage, as in the case of such perishable products as dates, in others to change merchandising policy with the result of keeping employment on a fairly even keel. Here is the intelligent way of attacking unemployment, the profitable field for study by federal and state governments and individual industries. We have long known that the coal industry needed such constructive study. It is fairly clear that the great steel industry does also, and the automotive industry. For we can either do it by adjusting ourselves within industries, or we can by attempting to unload the problem on private charity and on government. Really assume it ourselves in its most discouraging and least constructive form."

"Few economists believe," according to the CHICAGO DAILY NEWS, "that these measures would prove adequate for the purpose intended, since the unemployment problem is exceedingly complex. Carefully prepared construction programs are desirable, and President Hoover is one of the foremost champions of that partial but sound remedy for unemployment. But states and municipalities should have their constructive programs as well, all being effectively co-ordinated."

The national government is unsafe and unwholesome. The best way to prevent unemployment, however, is, of course, to encourage legitimate trade, enforce wise economy in all varieties and departments of government, and thereby eliminate wasteful taxation."

Convinced that "any measure that would contribute to the stabilization of conditions in an off-year through the creation of opportunities for useful and sustaining employment has something to commend it," the DALLAS JOURNAL comments: "The desirable results with this comment: 'What relation unemployment may bear to recurrent crime waves might be wholly determined. That it is provocative cannot be doubted. Any sound stabilization measure, whether this one or some better one, might contribute not only to the progress of the nation but to the elimination of crime."

"Support for these proposals," states the KANSAS CITY TIMES, "has come from labor organizations, students of industry and employment and from social workers who have had contact with the conditions affecting families that have been made victims of the existing system. There has been an evident desire to move intelligently in an effort toward relief, and it is being supplemented by similarly directed endeavor on the part of state and local authorities and of private industry."

"The public is somewhat wary of plans which might lead to the creation of industrial bureaucracy organizations at the Capital," it thinks the TERRE HAUTE STAR with the further conclusion that the public "must be convinced that the desired cooperation cannot be provided by agencies already in existence." The CHICAGO DAILY TRIBUNE offers the criticism: "Because of lack of aggressive action in Congress, government projects, the need of which is manifest and the money for which has been voted, are still to be started."

In the face of an emergency Congress is devoting its attention to planning for future emergency. It is criticism of the long-time program but a serious reflection upon Congressmen to say that Congress is putting last things first."

Sholapur Troops Called To Action

All Available Troops In Sholapur Called Out As Mob Marches On Arsenal

INDIAN SITUATION GROWING SERIOUS

(International News Service)
LONDON, May 10.—All available troops in Sholapur, Bombay, were called out today following a report an unruly mob was marching on the police arsenal, according to dispatches to the evening newspapers.

The report proved to be without foundation. The city, however, remains in a state of extreme nervous tension. All mills are closed and business is at a standstill.

The entire Port of Rangoon has been paralyzed by a strike of dock hands, according to an exchange telegraph dispatch. The strikers were led by nationalist agitators, the dispatch said.

A sensation was caused throughout India this morning, an exchange telegraph dispatch from Bombay declared, by the appearance of posters affixed to walls and buildings during the night calling upon the population to collect arms and ammunition and fight for overthrow of British rule.

Written in flaming red ink, the posters were signed "Commander of the Hindustani Army."

In spite of general fears to the contrary, the Moslem religious holiday occurring today passed peacefully, according to the evening newspapers. Extraordinary precautions had been taken at Lahore and other places to prevent communal rioting.

Mohammedans were forbidden to sacrifice cows or goats openly, while Hindus were forbidden to play music before Mohammedan mosques. Lahore was crowded with extra detachments of police to quell the slightest sign of violence, but their mere presence served to maintain order.

All religious processions in Bombay were banned in order to avoid possible clashes.

SIX THOUSAND SPECTATORS THRILL AT NIGHT FOOTBALL

of servitude sat and cheered as two football teams nearly suffocated in their heavy uniforms. The verdict seems to be unanimous that football is a fever that once contracted never leaves the blood.

Bare Legs For Galoshes

At any standard gauge football game, run according to the tenets of the sport, one finds galoshes and blankets, sweaters and fur coats, heavy hose and heavy breathers. All of them were missing last night. Sweet young things who flopped their way into seats last fall to the accompaniment of swishing buckles, munched in with their limbs (legs in English) encased in nothing more than an early spring tan, and their fur coats had been doffed in favor of sheer gowns that smacked of the tropics.

You might have been able to forget that it was May last night, but you couldn't forget that it was warm. The pop boys got cramps in their arms from dealing out "ice cold pop" that might have been on the ice about February, but which last night tasted as though it had been in the oven.

Complexions suffered terrific casualties, collars wilted like violets, and the only people who appeared to be cool were the junior high school tumblers who put on a clever exhibition between halves, dressed in their summer underwear.

But That Moon

It was a wonderful night for something, but hardly football moon mad nymphs might have disported themselves in bosky dells in reckless abandon, young men's fancies might have turned to thoughts of love and twanging guitars, young coits might have kicked their heels at the stars and it would have been all traced to the effect of that silver corcorer of the skies, but somehow or other you just couldn't connect the night with double passes and broken noses, line bucks and points after touchdowns.

Up above, hanging just about over the Thaddeus Stevens school, was the moon (you may have gathered it was moonlight) and to the glare of the electric lights was added the silver sheen of an effulgent ball that drenched the earth with its rays, and through its alchemy changed dirt roads into silver ribbons and staid citizens into wood sprites.

Down on the field there was little of romance, of glamor or of moon madness. It was work, grimy, sweaty labor that sapped the muscles and caked the throat, poured out youthful enthusiasm in cascade of perspiration that left the youngsters limp.

Up in the stands it was different. One lad forgot himself and instead of yelling "hold that line" bellowed out "hold that hand", and the silver loveliness of the evening had one contrasting touch of red, a deep crimson that started at his lady fair's neck and spread up to the roof of her hair.

But nobody noticed it. Nobody noticed anything it seemed, barring, of course, a couple of runs by a lad named Hayden, whose heels seemed to have the wings of Mercury on them, and another lad named Broccoli, whose kicks seemed to be ticked to the moon.

White Jerseys

The color scheme on the field was a moving mass of red and black and white against a base of green. The backfield of the Chaney team wore white jerseys, and the result was as confusing as a Chinese time table. If New Castle couldn't always figure who had the ball, the boys had nothing on the spectators.

Somewhere above it was said that there were about 6,000 people there. This did not include the string of substitute players on the New Castle bench, and if the subs had been charged admission, the gate receipts would have been large without any spectators. Knute Rockne hasn't such a lot on Phil Bredenbaugh, after all.

But over and above and beside all of what has been said, the football game Friday night was a spectacle. One that brought fans from as far as Erie and showed the folks a football field in its most favorable light.

Outside, the stadium automobile were parked for blocks and traffic downtown for half an hour after the game was tied up in a cramp. Perhaps you weren't there, somebody had to stay home, but to the 6,000 or more who were present it was a sight that was worth while going to see.

The result wasn't so satisfactory, but after all, who cared? New Castle was trying out a new team, and Chaney had a veteran one. A good one, ye ken, one that won the city championship of Youngstown last fall, a team that deserved to win an aid. After all, nobody cares a second hand boot for football scores in May, the game's the thing, and after getting all the gate receipts into his iron chest, Ralph Gardner probably concluded that folks hereabouts like their football any time they can get it.

It isn't a bad guess that a spring game each year will be played. It's an innovation, of course, but so were wing collars one time. An innovation that went over with a bang, and any time the athletic council can arrange for a night like last night, for a moon such as was out, and for a colorful spectacle as it was, then just that long will spring football draw a crowd.

Decision Favors Mrs. Herma Dick In Will Dispute

Opinion Handed Down By Judge Hildebrand Today In This and Other Cases

In an opinion handed down by Judge R. L. Hildebrand this morning it is held that Mrs. Herma Dick has a right to take against the will of her husband, the late B. L. Dick. Controversy arose over the fact that Mr. and Mrs. Dick, who were married in July, 1924, had signed separation papers. It was contended that there had been an agreement between them whereby each was to sign papers of the other for any transfer of property.

After the separation Mrs. Dick filed an application for divorce on the grounds of desertion. This application was refused. After Mr. Dick's death Mrs. Dick filed a petition for the $500 widow's exemption and also an election to take against the will. Executors N. C. Dick and Harper H. Dick protested the action, claiming that Mrs. Dick had relinquished her rights when the separation papers were signed. The court holds differently.

Other Decisions

In the case of R. J. Totten and A. W. Thompson, trading as the New Wilmington Telephone Company, against S. E. Calhoun and J. B. Calhoun, in which a suit was filed to collect a telephone account, the court holds that the bill of plaintiffs is not specific enough, as it gives the lump sum of the bill instead of itemizing and publishing rates. Another bill must be filed by plaintiffs in accordance with these provisions.

A new trial is refused in the case of Charles R. Kelley against Joseph O'Rourke, Margaret Seal and G. E. Seal. This was a case brought to collect a funeral bill, in which the verdict was awarded the plaintiff. It is directed that judgment for plaintiff be entered on the verdict.

In the matter of the grading of Clarence avenue an appeal from the report of viewers was filed by the city. Various property owners asked that the appeal be quashed. Rule issued on motions to quash the appeal of Catherine Young, John G. McGuire and H. J. Thompson is made absolute and the appeal by the city as to the three mentioned is quashed.

ABOUT THE VALUE OF MOTOR TRAFFIC

There has been more than usual newspaper comment recently regarding the amount of money expended by the motor traveling public, and for what the money is spent.

This is due no doubt to the fact that many highway commissions are avoiding the business districts in routing highway traffic and often build new highways completely around, rather than through any portion of the communities along the route.

Some cities think this plan ruinous to business and loudly voice their protests; others believe that it is sound sense.

In the controversy that has arisen it has been stated that the motor traveling public is of no value to a community—that the cash expenditure of motorists is confined to hot dogs, a bottle of pop and an occasional ice cream cone. A pure case of where a "man can appreciate only that which he knows." In this case he either does not know or it is sour grapes.

The advisability of routing highway traffic away from a town does not enter into this—I take no issue with any highway official—but I will say that the average town, regardless of the fact that they worked hard to get hard roads, does not deserve the traffic, for they have not only failed to take advantage of the business that this traffic has made possible, but have in many instances openly driven the business away from their towns by their unthinking practices and poor business judgment.

Every highway is literally "Acres of Diamonds", but like the story, those who dwell upon it are blind to it.

Every strange motor car that tangles the highways through New Castle has an average potential value in cash business of $1.04, not only to New Castle but to every other town, regardless of size, through which it passes. These cars are to a community the same as pedestrians to a store. Every individual that passes a store has a certain potential value, but the store has to get them inside before they can even expect to sell them; still no merchant would say that those who passed, but only looked in his windows, were of no value to him.

The same is true with motorists—you can't sell them unless you stop them, and if you stop one out of five, each one stopped is worth an average of $5.20.

One hundred cars stopped a day is equivalent to a factory payroll of $23,000 per month, and the traffic of the average highway is sufficient to get several times that.

What would New Castle do, what would New Castle give to get a factory with a payroll of twenty, fifty, or one hundred thousand dollars monthly?

Several thousand expense accounts of motorists will prove that expenditures cover everything in the mercantile line—directly or indirectly—there is no line of business that does not profit. It is not just the hot dog stand, nor is it the hotels, cafes, garages, and gas stations alone that make money from motor travel.

Any town can get its share of this business if they will take telling to make their community look good and then "get going to go get it."

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

We had a grand time. We toasted the bridegroom in a language he couldn't understand; and he replied eloquently in a language we couldn't understand.

"Then they passed around a paper and we wrote our sentiments thereon. He couldn't read them but he said they were beautiful—which they were—pretty darn beautiful.

"At least, he said something and I assume that is what he was saying.

"He asked us what we would like to have the orchestra play and I had the good luck to select Cuatro Milpas—which turned out to be the sort of town song for Tepic, having been composed by a Tepic boy.

"I find that I am a social hit if I don't understand anything that is being said.

"The Mexicans are charming socially—even the peons. To exchange greetings with a mule driver at the roadside is a charming experience. If you fail to devour some dish at dinner, the waiter looks as though he were going to faint or commit suicide, or both. Thereafter, he examines you and the dish with watchful care at each course. And it is no use to try dodging any of the courses. He tries them anyhow, excitedly insisting that each one is very, very good.

"I don't know that I am so hot about being a Mexican General after all. One has the next room to me. When he is in the patio, his orderly stands on the balcony above where he can watch everybody with two loaded automatics and goes to sleep with the same artillery on a mat in front of the General's door."

Nobody Knows But Mother

Nobody knows of the work it makes
To keep the home together;
Nobody knows of the steps it takes,
Nobody knows—but mother.

Nobody listens to childish woes
Which kisses only smother;
Nobody's pained by naughty blows,
Nobody—but mother.

Nobody knows of the anxious fears
Lest darlings may not weather
The storm of life in after years,
Nobody knows—but mother.

Nobody knows of the sleepless care
Bestowed on baby brother;
Nobody knows of the tender pray'r
Nobody—but mother.

Nobody knows of the lessons taught
Of loving one another;
Nobody knows of the patience sought,
Nobody—but mother.

Nobody kneels at the throne above
To thank the Heavenly Father
For the sweetest gift—a mother's love,
Nobody can—but mother.

HAVE TO DO IT
You remember the bed-time story of the turtle that was pursued by a bear or something or other. Father, telling the story, said the turtle escaped by climbing a tree. "But," said Willie, "turtles can't climb trees."

"Yes," said father, "but this turtle HAD to climb a tree."

Dean Roscoe Pound of Harvard law school departed for Oxford University to deliver a series of lectures which he had carefully prepared over a long period of hard work. On ship-board he discovered he had left all his notes behind. He went to Oxford and delivered his lectures beautifully, without notes. He made his memory perform as it had never performed before—because he had to.

Need Private Homes To House Delegates To G. A. R. Convention

One of the pressing needs of the state encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic to be held here the week of June 8 will be the matter of accommodations in private homes for delegates and visitors attending the sessions of the six organizations to be held here at the same time.

At the present time, practically every room in the hotels of the city has been reserved for delegates to one or the other of the several organizations and these few rooms that are still available will be gone as soon as the allotment of the rooms available has been made to those whose applications are on hand.

It is therefore necessary, according to Prothonotary R. M. Campbell, for the private homes of this city to be opened to the visiting delegates and visitors, and Mr. Campbell, who is chairman of the housing committee, is desirous of receiving offers of rooms in private homes, at a remuneration of one dollar for a night's lodging, per individual, or $125 for room and breakfast. More will probably be paid in some cases, but that will be between the individuals concerned in the transaction.

Five hundred such rooms should be available without delay, according to Chairman Campbell, in order to meet the constant incoming stream of letters asking that accommodations be arranged.

It is now up to the people of the city to show that they are really glad of the opportunity to entertain the few surviving members of the Grand Army of the Republic, their descendants and friends during the week of June 8.

While the actual number of delegates attending the sessions of the several organizations is estimated at approximately 1,800, the number of actual visitors to be in the city during that week is estimated at nearly ten thousand.

Many of these will require accommodations which must be provided for in private homes, due to the fact that there will not be any room available in the hotels of the city during that week.

Coupons are attached below, which it is desired that all those persons willing to house some of the visitors during the week of June 8 fill out and return by next Tuesday to R. M. Campbell, chairman of the housing committee, either at the court house or at The News office. It should be specified whether or not breakfast will be served.

The coupon follows:

Accommodations, Pennsylvania State Encampment, Grand Army of the Republic, New Castle, June 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 1930.

I will be glad to care for Ladies Men with (without) breakfast during above encampment.

GIRLS EAT THE MOST

Dr. Mopps wuz the principal speaker at the Young Men's Business League luncheon, yesterday, an' said as follows: "I've just completed my annual spring survey of the liver an' I find no encouragin' signs that any greater respect is bein' paid this most important of all human organs than there wuz durin' the previous year. There's many contributin' forces operatin' to the detriment of the liver, the most universal habit of ridin' bein' probly the worst menace. The abnormal consumption of candy is tellin' on the community's livers. Gorgin' over eatin', is the paramount curse of the nation. It reaps an annual harvest that makes the rum toll look like a dry poll in Massachusetts. Eatin' has become a business. Men used to jump on a bicycle at noon an' ride home an' eat a mild repast, mobble some liver, an' egg or two, bread an' butter an' coffee an' in a few instances a wedge o' pie. Today the many caterfias are packed an' hundreds file along past temptin' food displays almost a block long. No matter how many resolutions we've made to lay off of this or that or confine ourselves to so an' so, we simply can't resist the caterfias' allurin' an' savory cookery—big oozin' roasts, temptin' kidney stews, gorgeous hams, almost unbelievable soups, dashin' chops, mouth waterin' displays of vegetables event spinach an' kale that win us at first glance. An' the pies—jest imagine askin' a caterfias queen, "What kinda pie you got?" Ever kind, conversible top, open face an' closed. An' salads! There's more kinds of salads than there's tooth pastes, yes or even tap dancers. We eat things in caterfias we wouldn't allow in our homes, or rather we couldn't get in our homes. The caterfias is a Mecca for husbands. Here's somethin' I've read about all my life," said Lufe Bud, when a counter girl told him somethin' wuz Brussels sprouts. I expect the biggest thing a young husband misses between divorces is his good old caterfias days. Caterfias are fine if you're a post hole digger or a lineman. They're all right if you have a strong will power, an' are careful an' discernin' but the disposition to overdo it, to eat too much, is the manna. If anything saves the liver it's goin' to be golf. It takes us out in the open, it exercises the legs an' arms, an' fills the lungs with country air. If folks are goin' to drop dead there's no softer spot stop than the golf links. Ever business man, ever desk worker, should manager somehow to get a few hours of daylight on the golf links. A feller don't necessarily have to wear his friends out talkin' about his game. It's possible to get much out of golf without discussin' it, or chewin' terbacker, or swearin'. There's o' course, lots o' unfavorable comment on golf, with its gamblin' an' locker scandals, jest as the knowin' an' gossipin' about everything. Golf must be preserved an' encouraged on account o' the liver. It has revived walkin' promises to perpetuate it."

Utility Stocks Go Upward Today

Utility And Industrial Stocks Advance Few Points Today—Bulls Tighten Rope

By W. S. COUSINS
International News Service Financial Editor

NEW YORK, May 10.—Utility and industrial stocks led the market in a week end rally in which new gains of 1 to 6 points were recorded in a long list of popular shares. The bulls tightened the rope around the shorts as the supply of stocks offered for sale dwindled to small volume and the turnover for the two-hour session was 1,877,000 shares, against 4,867,000 shares last Saturday.

In expectation of a favorable forward tonnage report to be issued after the close of the market, U. S. Steel advanced about 3 points. The report when issued showed a decrease of 216,000 tons in April forward bookings.

Radio gained about 4 points in a drive against the short interest and new gains of 2 to 4 points were scored by Westinghouse, General Electric, American Can and Vanadium. United Aircraft recovered 5 1-2 points at 69 1-2 and allied chemical moved up 6. Leaders in the new advance in the utilities included Electric Power and Light, Consolidated Gas, United Corp., United Gas Improvement, American Waterworks and Public Service of New Jersey.

Though stock sales totalled less than 1,900,000 shares, the market staged a brilliant forward movement in the final period and closed at the top.

United States Steel made a net gain of 3 points at its final price of 172 3-4. Radio, was up 4 3-8 at 50 3-4; General Electric up 3 1-2 at 82 1-4; Westinghouse up 4 5-8 at 178 3-4; American Can up 3 5-8 at 141 1-8. For on August 5, 6 and 7 the greatest fair ever held in this section of the country, is scheduled. Members of the New Castle Fair Association are working hard and they promise to have the best fair ever. That is some promise too, because we have had some mighty good ones in Lawrence county during the past ten years.

Many improvements are being made at the fair grounds, on the Harlanburg road. By August, it will be in wonderful shape, and will be all set for the greatest ever. There is being built a new entrance, for instance, and grading work done and painting in fact it will be an entirely different looking place by the time for this year's fair.

Governor Kramer Leaves Hospital

Discharged After Treatment; Report Mrs. Philip Howard As Seriously Hurt

REST OF PARTY NOW RECOVERING

District Governor-elect Daniel A. Kramer of the fourteenth district of Lions International, of Reading, injured when the car in which he, Mrs. Kramer and a party of Reading Lions were returning home from the state convention here, crashed into a tree near Womelsdorf, Pa., has been discharged from the Reading hospital, to which the entire party was taken, according to a telephone message from Retiring District Governor David Perry, Altoona, today.

It was learned that Mr. Kramer suffered a broken wrist and two broken ribs in the crash, but has sufficiently recovered to leave the hospital.

Mrs. Philip Howard, wife of the president of the Reading club, who with her husband and Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Wahl completed the party, is believed to have been most seriously injured. Physicians declare she will probably never recover, and if she does it is said she will be totally blind. She is thought to have suffered a fractured skull and her condition at present is grave.

Mr. Howard and Mr. and Mrs. Wahl are still confined to the Reading hospital, but physicians believe they will recover. Minor fractures and lacerations were the extent of their injuries.

The unfortunate accident occurred when the party was 15 miles from Reading, when a tire on the machine blew out. The car left the road and struck a tree.

The entire delegation took a prominent part in the convention here Monday and Tuesday, Kramer having been chosen to the highest district office within a few hours of adjournment. They had left the city for the drive to Reading some time Wednesday morning.

Tariff Fate Hangs In Balance Today

Republican Leaders Seek To Compromise Senate And House Dispute On Flexible Clause

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 10.—The fate of the administration's year-old tariff bill apparently hung in the balance today while Republican leaders sought to compromise the house and senate dispute over repeal of the flexible tariff clause.

The senate's Republican leadership advocated a plan by which congress would be given a 90-day veto over all presidential proclamations under the flexible clause. The house Republican leaders insisted the present provision be retained, giving Mr. Hoover to raise or lower tariff rates at will.

The Democratic conferees from both house and senate were left out in the cold while the Republicans quarreled between themselves. They were all committed to the senate plan for stripping the president of all power over tariff changes and returning it to congress.

The ultimate compromise may be a provision directing the tariff commission to report all recommendations for rate changes to congress through the president, and allowing the president to promulgate rates only if congress fails to act on the recommendations within 90 days. The insurgents and Democrats have opposed this plan thus far, insisting the final word be lodged with congress. They would have the president proclaim rate changes but prevent their taking effect unless approved by congress.

Seven Americans In China Endangered

American Consul Wires State Department That Lives Of Americans Are In Danger

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, May 10.—Delayed advice to American Consul General Douglas Jenkins at Canton, China, transmitted to the state department today declared that seven Americans residing at Kweihien Kwangsi, are in considerable danger from almost daily bombing of the city by Cantonese airplanes.

The department's record shows the following Americans are at Kweihien:

Annie Baillie, Turtle Creek, Pa.; Miss Ethel Mattley of San Francisco; Emmet Lackey Broadbush, wife and two children of Lancaster, Ky.; and W. G. Smith and wife, whose address in the United States was not given. Jenkins reported that although he had no indications the Americans would evacuate Kweihien, he has asked the Kwangsi government to furnish an armed escort to enable them to cross over to the Cantonese lines if they desired.

He said because of the inability of the American gunboat Mindanao to proceed above Wuchow because of low water, he has been able to send no direct help to the Americans and must rely upon the efforts of the Cantonese and Kwangsi military authorities.

Veterans Have Wrong Idea Of Loans On Bonus

Continuous Borrowing Cuts Down Value Of Certificate Considerably

Many local World War veterans, who have been making frequent loans on their adjusted service certificates, are beginning to find that the value of their certificates has been appreciably lessened because of the mounting interest charge.

Warnings have been issued frequently by the Lawrence County Chapter, American Red Cross, of the fact that loans made on adjusted service certificates bear interest at the rate of six per cent, which is compounded annually.

In most instances veterans are apprised of this fact when applying for a loan, but apparently they do not understand that the interest is compounded. A loan made on a certificate today, which is not paid back, or if the interest is not paid, will amount to approximately double the amount of the loan over the remaining period of the certificate.

Loans first became available three years ago, and at that time there were many veterans who applied for loans and who have borrowed on their certificates each year since that time. Today they find that the loan value amounts to only a few dollars because of the interest charges. Veterans are warned against borrowing on their certificates except in cases of absolute necessity. Secretary Orville Potter of the Red Cross states. Many have foolishly made loans in the past that they have not actually needed, and when a time of dire emergency comes they are unable to get very much on their certificate when the money is needed.

Peter's Adventures

WISE PARENTS BUT THEY DIDN'T KNOW THEIR OWN SON

"Bravo, son! That was a fine catch!" shrieked Mrs. Small Water Beetle who followed her offspring about and applauded his every movement. Really so fond a mother was she that it is a great wonder the young beetle was not a spoiled child but Peter could not notice that he was a bit conceited. "Try again, I'll bet you catch three at one mouthful. However, don't eat too fast, my dear, or it will give you indigestion." Finally Mrs. Small Water Beetle turned from her son to look at Mrs. Great Water Beetle.

"How is your son, cousin?" asked she. "My goodness, he looks healthy enough! All puffed up with good fresh air, isn't he? What is he going to do to make a name for himself?" The Great Water Beetle chuckled and Father Beetle answered:

"We're sure we don't know, and anyhow it's rather early in life for him to do much of anything, isn't it, cousin? Listen, let me tell you a secret. Upon second look, mother and I are not quite sure that the youngster over yonder is our boy, after all. We thought so at first, but as a matter of fact there's nothing by which we can tell our children from the children of any of our brothers and sisters, all Great Water Beetles babies look exactly alike!"

"But don't you know your own cradle?" Mrs. Small Water Beetle was greatly astonished. The Great Water Beetles shook their heads. "Sorry but we don't!" shrieked they in chorus. "We couldn't unless we had kept track of the boat on which we set the cradle a-sail, and how could we possibly keep our eyes on the boat every minute? Why, we would have to go without food or sleep if we tried to."

"I suppose the boat floats off by itself, is carried into the reeds and there gets all mixed up with a lot of other cradle boats," ventured Peter. "Exactly!" cried the Great Water Beetles immensely pleased to think a stranger understood the situation and didn't blame them for not knowing their own children.

Jeannette Man Is Riddled By Shots From Machine Gun

Man In Parked Car Receives Thirty Lead Slugs In Body From Machine Gun

GREENSBURG, Pa., May 10. — Luigi Piazzi, 40, of Jeannette, Pa., was probably fatally wounded today when occupants of a passing automobile opened fire on Piazzi's parked car with a machine gun.

Piazzi was rushed to Greensburg hospital where attaches said he probably would die.

The man was literally riddled with bullets. Thirty leaden slugs ripped through his body.

The murderous attack occurred at a filling station on the Harrison City road.

Piazzi had driven into the station to refill his gasoline tank and was sitting in the car when a machine with drawn curtains swooped down upon the station.

Attendees at the station ducked and ran for cover when the car drew close to the driveway and the muzzle of a machine gun was poked through the rear seat curtains.

Before Piazzi could drop to the floor of his car the machine gun rattled out its staccato drone. Piazzi crumpled in the driver's seat of the car. He was unconscious when attendants at the station ran to his aid.

State, county and city police immediately organized a widespread search for the assailants. They voiced their belief that the attempt at murder came as an outgrowth of a bootleg trade.

The shooting is believed to mark the first attempt by Westmoreland county gangsters to borrow vengeance methods of Chicago gunmen by using machine guns.

Old Sycamore Will Be Named "The Pack-An-Ka"

Claire Weaver, Seventh Ward Lad, Submits Best Name During Recent Contest

At a meeting of the executive board of the Lawrence County Garden Club Friday afternoon, it was decided that the name for the old sycamore tree on the city square will be christened "The Pack-an-ka."

That name was sent to Mrs. Walter Eckenrood, secretary of the Garden club, during the recent tree naming contest by Claire Weaver, 305 Second street, a seventh grade student of Mahoning school.

"Before the advent of white settlers in this region, the ground where New Castle now stands was occupied by a tribe of Delaware Indians, ruled over by a powerful chief, who was called in his native land 'Pack-an-ka' was Claire's explanation of the name."

Members of the executive board agreed that his name was quite appropriate and the most unusual of all the suggestions received.

However, some very good names were submitted. Such names as Old Sentinel, Old Faithful, The Flower, Tree of Wonder, Joyce Kilmer, Joseph D. White, who was New Castle's first baby, Thomas A. Edison, Henry Longfellow, Tree of Good Will, Amos (gatherer of sycamore fruit), Admiral Byrd, Colonel Lindbergh, Castle Sycamore, God's Gift, John C. Stewart, and the names of past presidents and outstanding heroes. All names were noteworthy and the board had no easy task to decide upon the best.

Claire Weaver will be awarded five dollars by the club and the name "Pack-an-ka" and a few words of explanation will be put on a bronze tablet to be placed on the old sycamore. A high school student has suggested that the tablet be made in the shape of a keystone, the emblem of Pennsylvania.

The Lindberghs have crossed the country in a little over 14 hours, but Congress still holds the record for double-crossing it.

I favor an extension of the use of voting machines because they provide a method of voting that is fast for the voter, accurate and greatly labor saving for the election boards, and to some extent insures honest elections.

I favor authorizing the courts to appoint overseers from districts other than those in which they reside, admitting that this will not be beneficial unless the personnel of the overseer is thereby improved.

I favor a system allowing assistance to voters only when that assistance is necessary, and which will give notice in advance that such assistance will be asked and the reason for it, thus giving an opportunity for investigation.

If elected, I will support such legislation.

To the voters of the Second District:

All good citizens are interested in honest elections. Such citizens, therefore, are interested in those laws and that election machinery which will insure to all qualified voters the right to vote and to have their votes correctly counted.

No law or machine can be made for this purpose that will equal an honest election board.

Of course, qualified voters that deliberately neglect or refuse to vote
are not interested in this. Only dishonest election boards can count them
either for or against anything.

Knowing that election boards sometimes do not measure up to a high standard, it is the ambition of every fair-minded legislator to make an election law that is crook proof.

A great many sure-fire cure-alls have been suggested, many of which are disfigured with the birth-mark of inexperience. It is pretty hard to make either a law or a machine that is smarter than the man that made it
or even the man that has studied it.
However, there is much need of improvement in the election laws.

I favor a system providing for more
permanent and flexible registration,
which will make it less burdensome
for citizens to qualify themselves to vote. People have lost the right to vote because they have moved across the street, though still in the same town and often in the same ward.
It would be just as fair to deny them
the right to get their mail until they had lived in one house sixty days.
True, some authorities would have to be authorized to determine the bona fides of the transaction, but that would be no harder than many other problems.

I favor an extension of the use of

WILLIAM McELWEE, JR.
For Assembly

To the voters of the Second District:

All good citizens are interested in honest elections. Such citizens, therefore, are interested in those laws and
that election machinery which will insure to all qualified voters the right to vote and to have their votes correctly counted.

No law or machine can be made for this purpose that will equal an honest
election board.

Of course, qualified voters that deliberately neglect or refuse to vote
are not interested in this. Only dishonest election boards can count them
either for or against anything.

Knowing that election boards sometimes do not measure up to a high standard, it is the ambition of every fair-minded legislator to make an election law that is crook proof.

A great many sure-fire cure-alls have been suggested, many of which are
disfigured with the birth-mark of inexperience. It is pretty hard to make either a law or a machine that is
smarter than the man that made it
or even the man that has studied it.
However, there is much need of improvement in the election laws.

I favor a system providing for more
permanent and flexible registration,
which will make it less burdensome
for citizens to qualify themselves to vote. People have lost the right to vote because they have moved across
the street, though still in the same
town and often in the same ward.
It would be just as fair to deny them
the right to get their mail until they had lived in one house sixty days.
True, some authorities would have to be authorized to determine the bona
fides of the transaction, but that would be no harder than many other problems.

I favor an extension of the use of voting machines because they provide a method of voting that is fast for the voter, accurate and greatly labor saving for the election boards, and to some extent insures honest elections.

I favor authorizing the courts to appoint overseers from districts other than those in which they reside, admitting that this will not be beneficial unless the personnel of the overseer is thereby improved.

I favor a system allowing assistance to voters only when that assistance is necessary, and which will give notice in advance that such assistance will be asked and the reason for it, thus giving an opportunity for investigation.

If elected, I will support such legislation.

Respectfully submitted,
WILLIAM McELWEE, JR.

Appropriation Will Be Sought To Aid In Deportation Movement

Deficiency Appropriation Will Be Sought In House Is Predicted

Would Deport All Aliens Found Breaking Laws—Would Tighten Strings

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 10.—Request for a deficiency appropriation to meet the cost of deporting aliens and a drive to tighten up the deportation laws will be the first results of the anti-communist agitation in the House, it appeared today.

Testimony of police commissioner Grover A. Whalen of New York furnished the House Immigration Committee with new ammunition, and the House is expected soon to authorize a special committee investigation of communist agitation and propaganda throughout the country.

The Labor Department, it became known, will deport 16,000 aliens in the fiscal year ending June 30, the largest number since restrictive immigration was imposed. A deficiency fund of $25,000 will be sought by the department.

Deportation Move
Rep. Johnson (R) of Washington, chairman of the House Immigration Committee, said Whalen's testimony that strikes are being fomented to advance communism, probably will result in a new examination of deportation laws by his committee.

Representatives of our committee, however, have appeared before the appropriations committees of both Senate and House in the past requesting more money for the Labor Department in its effort to prevent smuggling of immigrants and to deport those here unlawfully," said Johnson.

"We drew up a deportation bill two years ago, which passed the House only to be emasculated in the Senate."

Two Big Obstacles
The government faces two big obstacles in its deportation program, Johnson said. Because the United States does not recognize Russia, persons cannot be deported there unless Russia is willing to receive them also.

Immigrants who entered the country unlawfully more than five years ago cannot be naturalized and cannot be deported. If they entered before 1924, the burden of proof of showing illegal entry is upon the government.

Whalen's refusal to give the House Committee details of his recent charges that officials of the Amtorg Corporation, Russian Soviet commercial agency of New York and representatives of the third international of Moscow are fomenting communist agitation, proved a disappointment.

Documents produced by Whalen to support his statements have been denounced as forgeries by representatives of the Amtorg Corporation. The House Committee, it was indicated by Chairman Johnson, will not call attorneys for the Russia, but let the matter rest until a special House investigating committee is created.

Baby Gets Revolver And Mother Is Shot

UNIONTOWN, May 10.—Late reports from the Uniontown hospital indicate the doubtful recovery of Mrs.

Elizabeth Glover, 20, who was shot in the abdomen as she took a revolver from her 2-year-old daughter. The bullet was recovered from the woman's abdomen.

The mother, in her conscious moments, explained that the child had in some manner taken the loaded .38-caliber revolver from a cupboard. She was looking into the barrel of the weapon when Mrs. Glover snatched the revolver, which accidentally exploded.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., May 10.—Fishermen discovered the body of John Garbatoff, 46, of Struthers, Mahoning county, hanging from a steel tower of a power and light company near Lake Hamilton. He drove his car to a half mile of the spot where he committed suicide. He was a steel worker.

Bare Leg Vogue, Starts Dispute

BATAVIA, N. Y., May 10.—High school authorities and girl students were at odds today over the propriety of the bare leg vogue.

Two girls who came to school with their sun-kissed legs exposed were ordered home. Just as promptly they were ordered back by their parents, still sans stockings.

As a result, 100 girl students petitioned for official sanction of the fad. The school's social council referred the issue to the school board.

Man "Too Slow To Catch Cold"

PITTSBURGH, Pa., May 10.—His wife called him an old "grandpaw" and told him he was too slow, George H. Miller, 416 Fisk street, told Judge Samuel H. Gardner, who heard his suit for divorce from Mary E. Miller, Thirty-ninth street, in common pleas court yesterday. Other witnesses testified she told him he was "too slow to catch a cold."

Mrs. Miller imagined any man who looked at her was in love with her, the husband said, and when they were at Atlantic City, told him to get another girl and have a good time.

"I can't remember the words of that new song," said the girl, returning from the show.

Here Is A Short, Hectic Resume Of Football Game

Of course, a person really should watch the football game, but there are so many things just so interesting among the spectators that a person can't be blamed too severely for diverting his attention now, can he?

First, last night. There was a football game going on down there on the pretty green field. It was exciting. Chaney had just made a touchdown. But then a fight and to break out, up at the top of the stadium. That was interesting, too.

Then, the game seemed to be going to suit New Castle. Squeals of anticipation came from the squad of female football fans. There were blonde and brunette and redheads—they interested one, also.

But, presto, Youngstown proved to be a Lon Chaney of a thousand tricks and one of them, feeling in a playful mood, grabbed the white football and galloped eighty yards to the tune of screaming Youngstowners and faint, gasping whispers of the New Castleites.

That called for a drink of pop and the munching of a peanut. But blasted hopes were gathered together and at the end of the half, although the score was lop sided, the New Castle crowd was mightily proud of their green gridgers.

At the middle of a thrilling play in the third quarter, a couple high school men got out their Yo-Yos and, well, that attracted some interest. Not far from there, a man was engaged in a heated argument as to why he should not wear a straw hat if he wanted to, even if it wasn't May 15? That broke out into a rather interesting quarrel but it was interrupted when the local team made a 10 or 15 yard run. In the excitement the men forgot their argument and the lads with the Yo-Yos dropped them carelessly to the ground.

It was one exciting and very interesting game, on field and in the bleachers.

They know that by paying all bills by the tenth of the following month at the very latest they win a reputation for reliability. They know that, that entitles them to further consideration from their merchants. And they know too that their records are under the national scope of this organization. That's why most folks are so anxious to pay all bills by the tenth—and why you will want to also.

Young Paymaster Reported Killed In South America

Report To Oil City Reveals Death Of Paul Keating By Colombian Bandits (International News Service) OIL CITY, Pa., May 10.—Paul L. Keating, 23, paymaster for the Tropical Oil company at El Centro, Colombia, South America, was shot and killed by bandits in a payroll holdup in the South American city on Thursday, according to information reaching here today. Dispatches reporting the murder of Keating, a native of Vandergrift, Pa., were extremely meagre. Beyond stating that the youthful paymaster had been killed while enroute to the oil fields with a semi-monthly payroll in an armored car, guarded by a policeman, there were no details given. One report was that the policeman riding with Keating also had been killed and another report stated that the policeman was wounded.

Prayer In Congress

The house met at 12 o'clock noon. The chaplain, Rev. James Sherer Montgomery, D. D., offered the following prayer: O Lord, our God, with the full consciousness of our demerits we come to Thee to obtain mercy and pardon. Forgive our sins and let disappointment and pain blossom into gladness. Teach us how to fulfill the vows which we have made, both in public and in private, and enable us to stand in the strength of God and in the fear of man. Bless the labors of this day and breathe a sweet satisfaction into our souls. Bring to the whole earth Thy glory, so that all men may learn peace founded upon national integrity and justice. Stir in our breasts aspirations for things noble and divine. O let flowers, reeds, and grasses, which are breaking through the earth, remind us of that eternal spring when we awake from dreams of God. Amen. Nearly 4,000,000 pounds of blueberries were sent from Newfoundland to the United States last year.

Bo Broadway by JOSEPH VAN RAALTE

By Central Press NEW YORK, May 10.—The ultimate in concentrated stage plays has arrived. It is "Courtisan," and the cast consists of one woman and a telephone. At the President Theatre Miss Elsa Shelley is appearing in a full-length play all by herself without making it particularly unbearable. By means of the telephone Miss Shelley creates the illusion that there are nine other characters trying to walk on the stage, but she is keeping them back. You think every minute they are going to appear, but they never do. It is intriguing melodrama and quite a trick. The trickster who wrote it is Irving Kaye Davis. AN IDEAL REALIZED. When in 1908 Joseph Pulitzer blind publishing genius of the New York World, decided to leave in his will a sum of money providing each year for the award of prizes for feats of journalism and letters he called Charles Macaulay, cartoonist of the World, abroad the yacht Liberty and asked him whether he thought cartoonists should be included in the proposed awards. He got an affirmative answer and 22 years later, Macaulay has won the prize he helped to create. By the time this column of kindness is read, the award will have been made to Mr. Macaulay, now of the Brooklyn Eagle, for the best cartoon appearing during 1929. Macaulay for years has been a powerful cartoonist. He was the favorite of Woodrow Wilson and President McKinley was his godfather. Always he has been associated with big men. "In my mind his most touching cartoon, was that published in the New York World the day after Mayor Gaynor's death. It was just a marble shaft with the words, "I Have Been Mayor."

EXCLUSIVE. For a long time certain writers of the hinterlands, waxing sarcastic, humorous and otherwise, have tried to kid "New York's 400" out of existence. Mrs. Marshall Field, Mrs. Harold Vanderbilt, Mrs. Vincent Astor and other society folk will not have it so. They are determined to keep "The 400" as applied to New York society by the late Ward McAllister, in evidence. So, they have organized the River Club, and the membership will be limited to "400" folk from New York society. It will be modeled after certain London establishments and will occupy four floors of an apartment house on the now fashionable East River waterfront. The old name for it was the "gas house district."

Foundation Of New Epworth Church To Be Finished Soon

Weather Conditions Have Hurried The Laying Of New Church Foundation

By the first of June, the foundation of the new Epworth church at the corner of Butler avenue and East Washington street, will be completed and work will start on the super structure. Much progress has been made on the past few weeks. Some trouble has been experienced in the work because of the quicksand. Because of this snappy substance, it was necessary to dig about 12 feet into the ground instead of the ordinary depth of 3 feet.

Calf Born With Only Three Legs

SHARON, Pa., May 10.—A well-developed calf, having but three legs, was born yesterday on the farm of

John A. Stefanick, who resides on the Sharon-Mercer road near Charleston. The calf's forelegs were of ordinary length but would probably have been useless as one was slightly deformed. There was only one hind leg. The left hind leg was perfectly normal but on the right side only a small stump protruded where the leg should have been. Dr. R. M. Phelan, local veterinarian, realizing that the animal would be helpless, dispatched it. He described it as one of the oddest freaks he had ever seen. How decent people are shocked when criminals are burned without the use of a chair. Great Britain wishes it could, like Gandhi, take the Indian situation with a grain of salt.

The Parent Problem

by GARRY C. MYERS, Ph.D.

Make Haste Very Slowly In Training

I am not a medical expert, so I could tell you only what I have learned from the physicians who take care of my children and from what I have read. Doctors differ widely in respect to the amount of cod liver oil to give, but I have heard the famous child specialist, Dr. McCulloch, of Johns Hopkins university say that a teaspoonful of cod liver oil a day is enough. Better seek the advice of your doctor on this matter.

Every up-to-date physician will tell you that all children need it, except during the summer months, especially young children, and more especially children recovering from illness.

I note that your children have had the measles and whooping cough. I can surely sympathize with you, for my youngest lad is at this moment almost whooping his head off. Poor kid. We tried hard, just as you did, to keep him from exposure, but he got it just the same. If I were you I would keep in close touch with the best trained physician I could find, at any personal sacrifice.

Then your big job is to get the children to take the cod liver oil. No matter what the size of the dose advised or its frequency, go at the task very gradually with the hope of giving them the prescribed amount after a few weeks of patient efforts. If by the time you read this you have succeeded in making them used to it, go on and then praise yourself for your wonderful success. If, however, you are starting all over again, I advise you to proceed as follows. Keep the cod liver oil in a cool place. Purchase it in small quantities so it will always be fresh. If there is any sign of nausea or resistance have a different time for each child's dose. You see that one child is likely to imitate another child; so do not let one see another who objects, or vomits, or threatens to do so. On the other hand, if one takes it well begin with him and let the others see "how fine he is."

Suppose you are beginning today on a child who objects. Pour the UHRICHSVILLE, O., May 10—Lodge in Stillwater creek, a mile northeast of Newport, a village four miles south of here, the body of Clara Lucina, 18, daughter of Bonaparte Campbell, living a mile from the scene, was observed by a miner returned from work.

The girl, angered by her father's refusal to permit her to accompany a youth to Canton in an automobile, left home without preparing dinner for her father last Wednesday afternoon.

Search was not instituted until Friday by the family, who supposed the girl was at a neighbor's home.

It is believed that the girl leaped from a bridge.

OH, THESE WOMEN!

By LEOLA ALLARD

I'm a coward and a dog, and I should be taken out to the end of a pier someplace and pushed off. And all because, when I saw a nurse slap a child, in a restaurant I didn't interfere.

The letter comes from "A Mother," and she feels just the way I did when I saw the nurse slap the child. Any child cries when it is slapped and perhaps it is hurt physically, and perhaps only its feelings are hurt. But if the nurse is placed in charge of the child, and the mother gives the nurse the right to punish for disobedience, the question would be whether or not the nurse and I have the same ideas about punishing children.

Perhaps I am right, and perhaps the nurse is right. At any rate the mother of the child trusted her to do the disciplining.

Now if I interfered, I'd have to prove that the child wasn't naughty and I heard nothing the child said. You and "Mother" wouldn't punish our children just that way for an offense which didn't bother anyone in the cafe half as much as the punishment bothered them. But it wasn't my child.

I've wanted, many times, to interfere when I saw mothers yanking children along by the arm, pulling their arms out and making them run to keep up with the hurried Mama. Would I have the right to stop these mothers and tell them they must not yank the children by the arms and pull them all over the street? I am not a member of any society that gives me that right, officially, and personally well, it is just possible the mother might think that is none of my business.

I have felt that I could hit in the head some of the mothers I've seen jerking children along by their little arms. But the least it would get me would be a sentence for assault. So I saw the crying little folks jerked, and did nothing. No doubt you have seen the same thing and acted just as I did.

A mother who would treat a child like that, would resent interference violently.

The mother's letter to me follows: "Dear Madam: Reading your article about the nurse who slapped the little child's face several times in a restaurant, I am moved to tell you that it is surprising to learn that you and the other woman were too cowardly to interfere for a helpless child. Does your conscience let you rest?"

If the child had been hit with a club or I was sure that she was much hurt physically, I would have interfered. It was the effect on the child mentally that was what made me so angry. Would you try to explain a thing like that to THAT kind of a mother?

All right, you do it.

If I'm wrong, write me. King Features 235 E. 45th St. New York. Copyright, 1930, Premier Syndicate.

Community Chest Week To Be Known As "Humanity Week"

"For Humanity's Sake" Is The Appealing Slogan That Will Be Used For This Year's Drive

ELLWOOD CITY, May 10.—At a meeting of the general and publicity committees which took place this morning in the Chamber of Commerce offices the plan of campaign for the annual Community Chest drive was mapped out and approved. The meeting was conducted by H. N. Wasser, general chairman, and J. J. McLaughlin, chairman of the publicity committee.

The week of May 19 will be set aside as "Humanity Week" and all contributions to the chest fund will be given "For Humanity's Sake," which is the slogan of universal appeal that has been adopted by the committees to use in soliciting subscriptions this year.

It was brought out at the meeting that 75 per cent of the money subscribed each year comes from the industrial sections, and the remaining 25 per cent from merchants, farmers, individuals and retired citizens. Of that 75 per cent, 63 per cent is donated by employees of the National Tube company.

There will be special placards carrying out the general plan of campaign, and folders will be distributed to the homes, stating what has been done with the money last year, and the proposed plan for distribution of the money to the various beneficiaries this year.

The indicator in front of the Central school, which will show the amounts raised from day to day, will be in the form of a football game with Ellwood City versus crime, disease and other enemies to humanity. The game will show progress from day to day, no doubt, until the final touchdown is made "For Humanity's Sake" and Ellwood goes over the top again.

Here Is Crack Recipe Of Local Man For Cooking Of Dandelion Greens: Try It

It is not yet too late to grab a basket and go forth into the woods and fields to gather dandelion greens, according to G. M. Houser of East Washington street.

Houser is recognized by east siders as being king of the dandelion cookery. He has a recipe all his own and anyone who has ever had a sample of the result of the recipe, agrees that Houser can make dandelions talk (so to speak).

But since there has been a certain amount of envious looks cast in the direction of this dandelion genius, the writer decided that that would never do, so did a little detective work.

The result was that the writer secured the secret recipe. Here 'tis, folks:

It is necessary at this time of year, confided Houser, that you par-boil the greens in soda. That puts the tender touch on them. Then drain off and boil in water with a little salt. Then forget about that for a few minutes and secure another container. In the second container, dice some bacon and fry until about half done, then add some diced onions and cook.

Beat some eggs (any amount you wish, according to the quantity of greens) and add some vinegar and sugar. Dump this concoction into the frying bacon and onions. When your better judgment whispers to you that the mixture of bacon, onions, eggs, vinegar and sugar is sufficiently cooked, remove it and mix it up with dandelion greens. Then your better judgment can tell you if you should eat it or pass it out to your friends.

However, not a few east siders will testify that there are no dandelions like Houser's, so try the recipe and you can blame it on him.

West Virginia Man Dies On Gallows

Walter Crabtree, Slayer Of Three For Grudge, Dies Gaily On Gallows

(International News Service)
MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va., May 10.—Walter Crabtree, 35, of Romney, W. Va., slayer of three men against whom he held grudges, did not make a statement from the gallows last night before he paid with his life for the crimes, witnesses to the execution said today.

Crabtree was granted permission several hours before the hanging to make a statement from the gallows, but when he stepped on the platform several minutes before the trap door was to plunge him into eternity, he remained silent.

Flanked by guards on either side and preceded by Chaplain W. C. Harold, the condemned man began the death march from his cell in death row to the gallows shortly before 9 o'clock. The slow tread of the procession was accompanied by a hymn chanted by the other prisoners.

The trap was sprung at 8:55 and 13½ minutes later Crabtree was pronounced dead.

Although Crabtree killed three men the morning he took his shotgun and hunted out several of his enemies, he was convicted of only one of the murders—that of H. C. Inskeep, Hampshire county justice of the peace.

An appeal for executive clemency to Gov. William G. Conley was denied when Dr. Cecil Denham, state alienist, reported to the governor that Crabtree was sane.

"I'm ready to go," the doomed man told prison authorities yesterday afternoon. "He had given up hope of escaping the noose although he had not yet learned of denial of executive clemency."

His last meal consisted of beefsteak, peas, corn, lemonade and with pie for dessert.

CHANNEY DEFEATS NEW CASTLE HIGH, 26-0

Channey Too Good For Local Eleven

Hayden, Broscoe, And J. Kobaleo Star For Youngstown Champs

Hayden Makes 90-Yard Run For Touchdown; 5,000 Watch Night Game

Presenting a smooth, experienced, and well trained football team, Channey High of Youngstown defeated an inexperienced New Castle high school eleven at Taggart Field on Friday night in a spring night grid game which attracted close to 5,000 fans. After four quarters of fast football the score favored the Ohioans 26-0.

Hayden Good Player
Hayden playing quarterback for the visitors was as good a football player as has been seen at Taggart Field for a long time. He was fast and when he got hold of the pigskin he was hard to stop. This fact was evident last night. Continuously Hayden received the ball and made some lengthy runs. One of the runs which was good for a touchdown in the third quarter measured 90 yards. He received the ball on his own 10-yard line and by zig-zagging, and twisting managed to go through the entire New Castle team for a touchdown.

J. Kobaleo proved the other star for the winners. Johnny did some nice punting for the Ohioans in the tight pinches and also managed to get through the tight tackle for a touchdown from the 2 yard line in the first quarter. These two gridgers had much to do in bringing victory to Channey.

Channey High brought here a team that proved too good for the local inexperienced eleven. When a green team like the local eleven with only two veterans on it can hold a veteran team such as that which Channey won 26 points they show much promise. Channey was favored to cop the game by at least eight touchdowns. New Castle looked good against their smarter opponents and show promise of developing into a smooth eleven for next season.

Channey Scores in First.
Channey scored its first touchdown of the game in the first quarter. New Castle won the toss of the coin and elected to receive, defending the north goal. Broscoe kicked to DeCarbo on the 30-yard line. DeCarbo returned the kick about 8 yards. A pass, McAuley to Bender, netted a first down. The pass was good for 15 yards.

Bender got through left tackle for 5 yards. Fabian made the second first down for New Castle through center. Bender on an off tackle play registered 15 yards for another first down. McAuley gave New Castle its fourth straight first down in a row when he got through left tackle for 10 yards. Fabian brought the ball to the 20-yard line. New Castle was penalized 15 yards for slugging. This was the closest the locals came to scoring.

Channey Scores First Touchdown.
DeCarbo punted to Hayden on the 50-yard line who returned the kick 15 yards to the 30-yard mark. New Castle was penalized 15 yards more for unnecessary roughness. The penalty placed the ball on New Castle's 15-yard line. Cello got through right tackle for 6 yards. J. Kobaleo hit a hole for 7 yards, placing the ball on the 2-yard line. On the following play he scored Channey's first touchdown through left tackle. Broscoe annexed the extra point by placement. Score, Channey 7, New Castle 0.

Visitors Score in Second.
Channey's second touchdown came in the second quarter. New Castle could make no progress with the ball. Occasionally the locals delivered the ball down as far as the 30-yard line but lost it on downs.

The first quarter of play ended with the ball in Channey's possession on its own 22-yard line. J. Kobaleo kicked to McAuley as the quarter got under way. New Castle attempted two plays and decided to kick. DeCarbo kicked to Hayden on the 35-yard line. Channey was penalized 15 yards for slugging.

The red and black clad boys received the ball on downs. After trying two more plays the locals were again forced to punt. DeCarbo punted to Hayden on the 52-yard mark. Hayden returned the boot to the 29-yard line. A pass, Hayden to Broscoe, failed. J. Kobaleo ripped off 20 yards through left end to bring the ball to the 9-yard line. McAuley recovered. Cello's fumble on the 9-yard line. Fabian on the following play fumbled. Belenski recovering for Channey.

The local team held Channey from scoring any yardage on the next two plays. Hayden then got through center for a first down, bringing the ball to the 5-yard line. A delayed lateral pass, L. Cello to Hayden, resulted in Channey's second touchdown. Broscoe made good the try for the extra point on a placement. Score, Channey 14, New Castle 0.

The remainder of the second quarter was played with neither team making headway toward goal line. The half ended with Channey in possession of the pigskin on its own 15-yard line. Score at half, Channey 14, New Castle 0.

Hayden Runs 90 Yards.
The third quarter was the period in which Hayden made that spectacular 90-yard run from the 10-yard line to give the scarlet and gray eleven its third touchdown of the game. After bringing the ball to the 35-yard line New Castle was forced to kick. DeCarbo booted the football to Hayden on the 10-yard line. Hayden received the ball, zig-zagged and twisted thru the entire New Castle team and ran 90 yards for the third touchdown. Broscoe failed to annex the extra point on placement. Score, Channey 20, New Castle 0.

After considerable playing was done in mid-field during the beginning of the final quarter New Castle was forced to kick. DeCarbo kicked to Hayden on the 23-yard line. Belenski made no gain through center. On the next play Hayden got loose through left end and made a run which netted 20 yards and which placed the ball on the 3-yard line. On the next play Belenski crossed the goal line for Channey's fourth and final touchdown. Broscoe missed the try for the extra point on placement. Score, Channey 26, New Castle 0.

With only a few minutes remaining to play, Coach Shumaker sent in all the subs to the bench. After several plays the game ended with the ball in possession of Channey on the 40-yard line. The final score was Channey 26, New Castle 0.

12 First Downs for Locals.
New Castle scored more first downs than Channey. The local red and black clad gridgers scored 12 first downs to four for Channey. Had the locals not received a penalty in the first quarter when the local eleven made four first downs in a row New Castle might have scored. New Castle tried a total of 14 passes and made 10 count. Channey attempted one pass which failed.

For New Castle, McAuley at quarterback, Sotus and Bender at the halves and Harry Crisel at tackle played the best. Judging from the account the local lads gave of themselves last night, New Castle will have another good eleven next fall.

Close to 5,000 fans from here and Youngstown and neighboring towns watched the two schools conclude a spring training season with a game under floodlights.

The summary of the game follows:
Channey 26, New Castle 0.
Lutz R.E. Raber

One Illinois town lost all of its inhabitants since 1920. It just shows what people will do when bond issues get too heavy.

How strange that prominent people always happen to be slumming on the very day that tough joints are raided.

The red and black clad boys received the ball on downs. After trying two more plays the locals were again forced to punt. DeCarbo punted to Hayden on the 52-yard mark. Young Jack Thompson Wins Welter Crown

Chicago Negro Battler Is Newly Crowned Welterweight Champ

Jackie Fields Wins Only Two Rounds Over Thompson In Bout At Detroit

DETROIT, May 10.—Young Jack Thompson, Oakland, Calif., negro, today became the world's welterweight champion, he defeated Jackie Fields of Los Angeles here last night in 15 rounds in one of the most unlooked for upsets in the history of fistiana.

Elmer (Slim) McFarland, the referee, walked over to Thompson and raised his arm without hesitation at the end of the bout, so clearly had the negro shown he was Field's master, the crowd of 15,000 persons approved the verdict.

Fields, entered the ring confident of victory, cried like a child in his corner when his dark skinned opponent was proclaimed the new champion. The bout was the first in which Fields had defended his title since he won it in July of last year from Joe Dundee on a foul.

First Since Walcott.
The new wearer of the welterweight laurels is the first colored boxer to win the crown since Joe Walcott was champion 29 years ago.

Although Thompson fought a brave, daring fight and had the champion so tired after the tenth round that Fields could not fight back, the result was made bitter to the Southern Californian by the fact that he almost won on a kno in the second round. Rights to the jaw had the negro in great distress and Fields tore in with the scent of victory in his nostrils but Thompson weathered the storm and came back his former powerful self in the third round.

A hard right cross to the chin in the second appeared to make the colored boy's knees crumple for a second but a welcome clinch saved him.

Victory Unquestioned.
Thompson's victory was unquestioned and he won cleanly. He was credited with taking ten of the 15 rounds. Fields won only two rounds, the rest being even.

Fields showed a surprising rally in the twelfth but by that time Thompson had piled up such an imposing lead it was almost wasted effort on the part of the champion.

Fields suffered a bad cut over the left eye in the tenth and after that at times his battle was almost pathetic and far from what the fans expected from a titleholder. Fields plainly showed he had slipped considerably since he reached the peak of the welter ranks a year ago.

Thompson weighed 142 and three quarters pounds and Fields weighed 145 and three quarters.
Gate receipts totaled approximately $60,000 of which Fields received $37,000 and Thompson $2,500. Thompson's small cut of the money was agreed upon in the event he annexed the title.

MUSHBALL LEAGUE

Now that the big spring football game is out of the way the mushball boys can settle down to the business of getting the leagues going on Monday night. The Industrial teams will commence activities.

The games are scheduled for 6:30 o'clock, and they must be started by 6:45 o'clock. The team that has eight men ready for play at 6:45 o'clock wins the game if the other team does not produce enough men. A forfeit game can be claimed.

The Industrial League will open without ceremony. There are four games on tap as follows: Radiator Works vs. Engineering Works, Shenango Tin Mill Field, Penn-Ohio Electric vs. Bell Telephone, Radiator Field, Lockley Machine Shop vs. News Printers, George Washington Junior High Field, Shenango Tin Mill vs. Lehigh Cement, Lehigh Field.

Remember the Carnegie Field project has been abandoned. The mushball league has accepted a field donated by D. S. Pyle at the Shenango Tin Mill. It is located at the western end of the viaduct, and to the left as you approach the end of the viaduct. The field is in good shape.

The Merchandise division kicks off on Tuesday night—Bankers vs. Post Office at Lehigh Field. Richmans vs. News Slugs at Radiator Field. Phalanx vs. Haney's at George Washington Junior High Field. Firemen vs. Spencers at Shenango Tin Mill Field.

The News will print the box scores of the games, with runs, hits and errors. The score sheets which have been given the various managers must be turned in by the home club after the games are played. Drop them in the slot in front of The News office, to the left of the front door. They must be in the office before 8 o'clock the morning after the games are played.

Someone has asked who the managers are for the various teams, well here they are: Lehigh Cement, Gus Thompson and Wes Davey; Shenango Tin Mill, Rudolph Thies and Arnold "Fix" Fraser; Lockley Machine, Howard Reed; Penn-Ohio Electric, F. A. Beard; Bell Telephone, Ralph Davis; Penn. Engineering Works, Harold Patten; Radiator Works, C. A. Cover and Andy Colaluca; News Printers, Charles "Bugs" Walther.

The Merchandise Division managers are, Richmans, William "Bill" Friedman; Spencers, Bill Spencer and Harold Ingram; Firemen, George Harper; Phalanx, Lindy Bruce and Al Owens; Post Office, Cliff Roberts; Haney's, Raymond Clarke; News Slugs, Harry Carlson; Bankers, Bob Clark and Lauri Laurell.

The pitchers box has been moved in and now is 32 feet from home plate. This is three feet shorter than was originally intended, but it will make for a faster game.

There is no admission charged to the mushball games.

The spectators are asked to familiarize themselves with the game and to donate their services as umpires when asked by the various managers. The ump's have been given full authority to handle the games.

Well may the best teams win the flags in their respective circuits. Don't forget the opening is Monday night.

BUT I MUST END WITH A DOG-GONE "LAST LINE"

My way is to begin with the beginning.

Any one interested is requested to communicate with Michael A. Pettit, Secretary, Box 108, Koppel, Pa., or phone B. F. 9046-R 12 after 5:00 p. m.

Track Team Goes To Wilkesburg

The members of the New Castle high school track team left this morning by automobile for Wilkesburg, Pa., where the local Red and Black cinder pounders will compete in a triangular track and field meet along with Wilkesburg and Washington high schools.

The local athletes concluded training on Friday afternoon and according to reports they are in real shape for the meet. The winner of the meet will receive a trophy. New Castle hopes to bring back home the loving cup.

THREE OTHER BOUTS IN OPEN AIR ARENA

Knockout Huske and Mickey Solomon, 156-pounders, will end heavy training this afternoon in preparation for their 10-round bout Monday night at the open air Jolly Bowl.

Huske has trained at Akron and Solomon at Youngstown and reports from the two cities claim the fighters are in tip-top condition and anxious for the bell to ring.

Solomon and Huske carry knockouts. Huske has knocked out seven of his last 10 opponents. Solomon has stopped Buck McTiernan, Johnny Piel, T. N. T. Gibbons, several others and doesn't take the Young Saylor loss seriously.

In a sportsman it's Fair Play

in a cigarette it's Taste

POPULARITY IN A SPORTSMAN rests first of all on fair play; in a cigarette on better taste.

CHESTERFIELD'S POPULARITY is fairly won with finer tobaccos, blended and cross-blended to give greater delicacy and richer fragrance.

IT TAKES TIME and is costly to make cigarettes the Chesterfield way, but no other way arrives so surely, so completely at what you want most . . . "TASTE above everything".

We state it as our honest belief that the tobaccos used in Chesterfield cigarettes are of finer quality and hence of better taste than in any other cigarette at the price. LIGGETT & MYERS TOBACCO CO.

HEAD TURN FOR BREATHING
LESSON EIGHT
A sound method of breathing is essential to good swimming.
When you swim be sure your eyes are at water level. Turn your head as you near the completion of the right stroke so that you can look directly back.
If you find it easier or more natural to turn your head at the completion of your left stroke you may do so, although it is preferred to the right. Practice this for a while so that you get the general habit of the action before you actually breathe.
A swimmer should breathe not through his nose but through the mouth.
Take a breath through the mouth each time you turn your head and while the other stroke is taken and your head is in front exhale through your nose and mouth. Water accidentally drawn into the mouth is easily expelled or in case of absolute need, swallowed; but if the nasal passages are filled, the discomfort causes most swimmers to gasp and choke, and cause beginners to utterly lose confidence.

Gallant Fox Looks Like Derby Favorite

Gallant Fox Captures Preakness Race Friday And Looks Like Best Bet

Kentucky Derby This Year Will Draw Number Of Good Horses Is Reported

By DAVID J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, May 10.—Out of the list of a half century of the great stakes races at Churchill Downs and the Hippodrome at Pimlico has risen only one thoroughbred—Sir Barton, in 1919—whose greatness was so elastic that he could win the Preakness during one week end and the Kentucky Derby during the next. But the old champion long since has passed to the clover that awaits all good horses and today they were seeing his image in the flesh of another.

The latter is called Gallant Fox, doubtless because he is a horse whose gallantry wasn't even asked a pertinent question during yesterday's running of the Preakness. He was so much the best of his field that he won in a common gallop, to use the parlors of the paddock, and so within a few hours he will be riding into the West toward another great race and what many now regard as an inevitable victory in the derby.

Shows Fine Form
Other candidates have commended themselves by their performances in training but there is nothing so impressive as the thing they call racing form and Gallant Fox has shown a great plenty of that, first in the Wood Memorial Stakes and yesterday in the greater and sterner test, the Preakness. Smart handicappers around town tell me that he won't be worse than 2 to 1 in the future books from now on, thus displacing Gallant Knight, Tannery and High Foot, the trinity that had shared the honor mark at 4 to 1 earlier in the week.

The price on this trio, it is said, probably will lengthen to 6 to 1, with the possibility that Crack Brigade, second in the Preakness, will share their position. The remainder of the quotations are likely to remain unchanged, although when comparable with horse racing a woman's mind in constancy in a glass case.

Gallant Fox Favored
Where, for example, are those sirens of the early "play" on the derby—Dedicate, Desert Light, Flying Heels, Gone Away and Sarazen II? Gone Away with Gone Away is the answer.

But the turf was ever a staunch disciple of success and, from now on, it will remember only that Gallant Fox, crowned in the early stages of the Preakness, ran over everything in the last half mile and won by almost two lengths in the clinching time of 2:00 3-5 for the mile and three sixteenths. He was expected to win. He did. The turf is very elemental about things like that. It never asks questions or results.

In truth, the horse proved a num-

Mother's Day
Friend, when you sit down at set of sun,
And count the things that you have done;
And counting, find one little act of kindness
That sent sunshine where'er it went,
Then you may count that day well spent.

NEW YORK STOCKS

Market Quite Staple In Week-End Session

By W. S. COUSINS

International News Service Financial Editor

NEW YORK, May 10.—A spirited rise in the public utility stocks and favored industrial at the beginning of the short week-end session diverted speculative interest for the time being from the irregular markets of the last few days. Wall Street had the impression that the shorts were being given another "squeeze" in the stocks in which short selling had been quite liberal in the last two weeks.

The bulls were encouraged by the favorable tone of the week-end business reviews and by the increase in weekly bank clearings for the first time in two months. Clearing, increased 4.9 per cent over the same week last year and 7.3 per cent over last week.

Electric Power and Light led the rally in the utilities and sold up nearly 5 points at 90 1/2. Consolidated Gas moved up 1 1/2 to 128. United Corp.

United Gas Improvement, American Waterworks and other well known utilities rose 1 to 3 points.

Steel Pushes Ahead

United States Steel pushed ahead

2 1/2 to 127 1/2, up nearly 7 points from the low of the week. The stock was well bought in anticipation of a favorable forward tonnage report to be issued at noon. Westinghouse jumped

3 points to 177 1/2 and General Electric was boosted 2 1/2 to 81 1/2 on a persistent buying wave. Radio sold up 4 points at 50 1/2.

The copper stocks made further progress under the strength of increasing home and foreign sales of the Red Metal. Sales this morning for foreign account totalled 20,000,000 pounds. Anaconda made the best recovery of the week to 60 1/2 up 1 1/2 and Kennecott rose 2 1/2 to 48 1/2 in active trading.

The amusement stocks were under profit-taking in the first hour, but pushed a little more vigorously in the second, Warner Brothers rising 2 points to 68 1/2; Fox and Radio Keith up 1 1/2, each.

The tobacco stocks and high-priced specialties carried to higher levels the advance inaugurated in yesterday's session, recording new gains of 1 to 7 points. In most cases these new gains were retained in the late trading and the market was firm in every section.

Bishop James Cannon, Jr., Among Those Facing Probe By Board Of Episcopacy

(International News Service)

DALLAS, Tex., May 10.—Investigation of formal charges of misconduct filed against four bishops, including Bishop James Cannon, Jr., of Virginia, will be opened here Monday by the board of Episcopacy of the Methodist Episcopal church, South.

This was learned today from a highly authoritative source connected with the quadrennial conference of the church in session here.

The charges of alleged misconduct were filed by the Rev. Rembert Smith of Washington, Georgia, against Bishops Cannon, John M. Moore, of Dallas, Edwin D. Moulton of Charlotte, N. C., and H. M. Du Bose of Nashville, Tenn.

The accusations were made yesterday by mail by the Georgia minister. The letter setting forth the charges was immediately turned over to the Episcopacy board, vested with the power to investigate the conduct of Bishops and other church officials. Dr. Frank P. Culver, chairman of the Episcopacy committee, admitted receipt of the charges but refused to divulge their nature.

Chief Electrician's Mate O. O. Pierce, in charge of the local naval recruiting office, and his wife left today for Cleveland, O., to spend the week end with friends in that city.

Texas Negro Is Burned At Stake

Infuriated Mob Of Texans
Burn Courthouse, Kill
Negro, Then Burn
Body

STATE MILITIA AND RANGERS CALLED OUT

(International News Service)
SHERMAN, Texas, May 10.—
Bloodshed and terrorism under mob rule ended here early today after a howling mob of 2,000 persons finally gained possession of the body of George Hughes, 41-year-old Negro charged with criminal assault, and burned it at the stake.

The mob gained its end after it had destroyed the Grayson county courthouse by fire and battled state rangers, national guardsmen, and city patrolmen for eighteen hours.

A small two-story brick building, owned and occupied by Negroes, was also burned for added vengeance.
The Negro's body was tossed to the crowd shortly before midnight when it was removed from a vault in the charred ruins of the courthouse.

Courthouse Fired
The Negro had perished several hours earlier when the courthouse was fired by the mob after authorities had placed him in the vault for safe keeping.

Forming a procession with the body on full display in a truck, the crowd immediately began a march to the Negro quarters of the city.

Reaching the center of the black belt, the mob formed in a semi-circle around a street corner and the body was hung to a limb of a tree in front of a Negro drug store, kindling wood, boxes and papers soaked in gasoline were piled under the tree and set fire.

As the flames licked upward, the crowd continued its shouting and hooting, and remained upon the scene until the burned body dropped to the street.

The building before which the pyre was built was ignited and completely destroyed.

ROAMING

With Richards

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations
Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

Hardly necessary to preface this column today with the fact that the roaming was done at a football game last night. It was the gathering place of the multitudes, the shrine of the football mad, and the center of attraction. Never had been done before in New Castle, but the chances are it will be done again next year.

After watching that crowd of football gridders, pant through the game may I suggest that some store of refrigeration be put inside the suits.
Football armor is warm enough in November, but in May and especially on a night like last night it must have been like sleeping under woolen blankets in an apartment where the janitor fires the furnace.

And if I might suggest it, this Chaney has a real team. Not much wonder they won the city championship of Youngstown with lads like Kabeala, Hayden and Broscol. They knew what to do and how to do it and did it.

Ed Logan missed the game entirely.
He heard some one say that Chaney was playing last night and being a motion picture fan went to a theatre.
After sitting through two hours of flicker fun he left in a high dudgeon declaring that he hadn't seen Lon all evening.

The two junior high school bands Franklin and Washington had the spot last night. The Senior High school band was in Philadelphia and the juniors had the chance to strut their stuff. They did, mightily well indeed, and then to their music was added that of the Chaney band. The massed bands that paraded the field between the halves was worth half the price of admission.

The other half can be applied on that gymnastic exhibition of junior high school tumblers staged by Lerol Norton. Hand stands, back flips, front rolls and pyramids, they did them all and if you ask me I would say that it was worth seeing.

As for the football game it was just as big a thrill as though New Castle had won. When you have the football virus in your blood, the score doesn't dampen your ardor a bit.
Somebody had to win and a good team did it.

The sale of pop last night must have made somebody a sock full of nickels. The boys couldn't keep their bottle holders filled up and the harmonies of the bands was disturbed now and then with the tinkling of a crashing bottle as somebody knocked over an empty onto the concrete.

The night game was a treat for some of the visiting newspapermen who were present. Sy Lyman and Tommy Gibbons were down from Sharon and Johnny Ray was up from Beaver Falls. Johnny is an attorney now, but still dabbles in sport writing. Vic Eldridge from Youngstown was present and accounted for and Joe Martin from Erie sent down a couple of substitutes.
